Foreword

*T*he year in which this book is being published is a crucial one. It is a year in which the destiny of men and nations, and even of the world, is, in all probability, to be determined. Two different philosophies of life are in death grip,—the Axis philosophy of terrorism and slavery, and the democratic faith in free men and institutions.

This struggle is being implemented with fast-moving, high-powered, hard-hitting machines, and youth is doing the fighting, for only youth has the stamina to endure the terrific strain of modern war. On our generation depends the future of all mankind.

Our last year in school has been permeated with the challenge of the times in which we live. All our thoughts and efforts have been bent on bringing about victory. Hence we derive the theme for this yearbook: "Youth Builds for Victory".

Dedication

*T*o the faculty and students of Pittsfield High School now in the armed forces and to those who will soon be serving,—those who will give their lives if necessary to preserve the blessings of freedom, we, the Class of 1943, dedicate our yearbook. Knowing well the sacrifices they will be called upon to make, we inscribe this book as a proud tribute to their shining courage.

STAFF SERGEANT JAMES A. CONROY

Even though Mr. Conroy was our advisor for only one year, we appreciate the assistance he gave us. We realize that he has answered the call to a greater duty, the preservation of our world's liberty.

Roll of Honor

For our teachers and classmates who have left these ivied walls to insure the privilege of free education, we pray that they may return safely from the bloody battlefields of this war.

MISS HELENE MILLETT

The Class of 1943 voices its sincere appreciation for the many ways in which Miss Millett has given us her undivided attention. Through her intimate knowledge of the problems of high school students, she has guided us to that glorious moment, our graduation. We shall cherish among our fondest memories of high school days her willingness to help, and that cheery smile which always greeted us.

MISS MARION L. BULGER

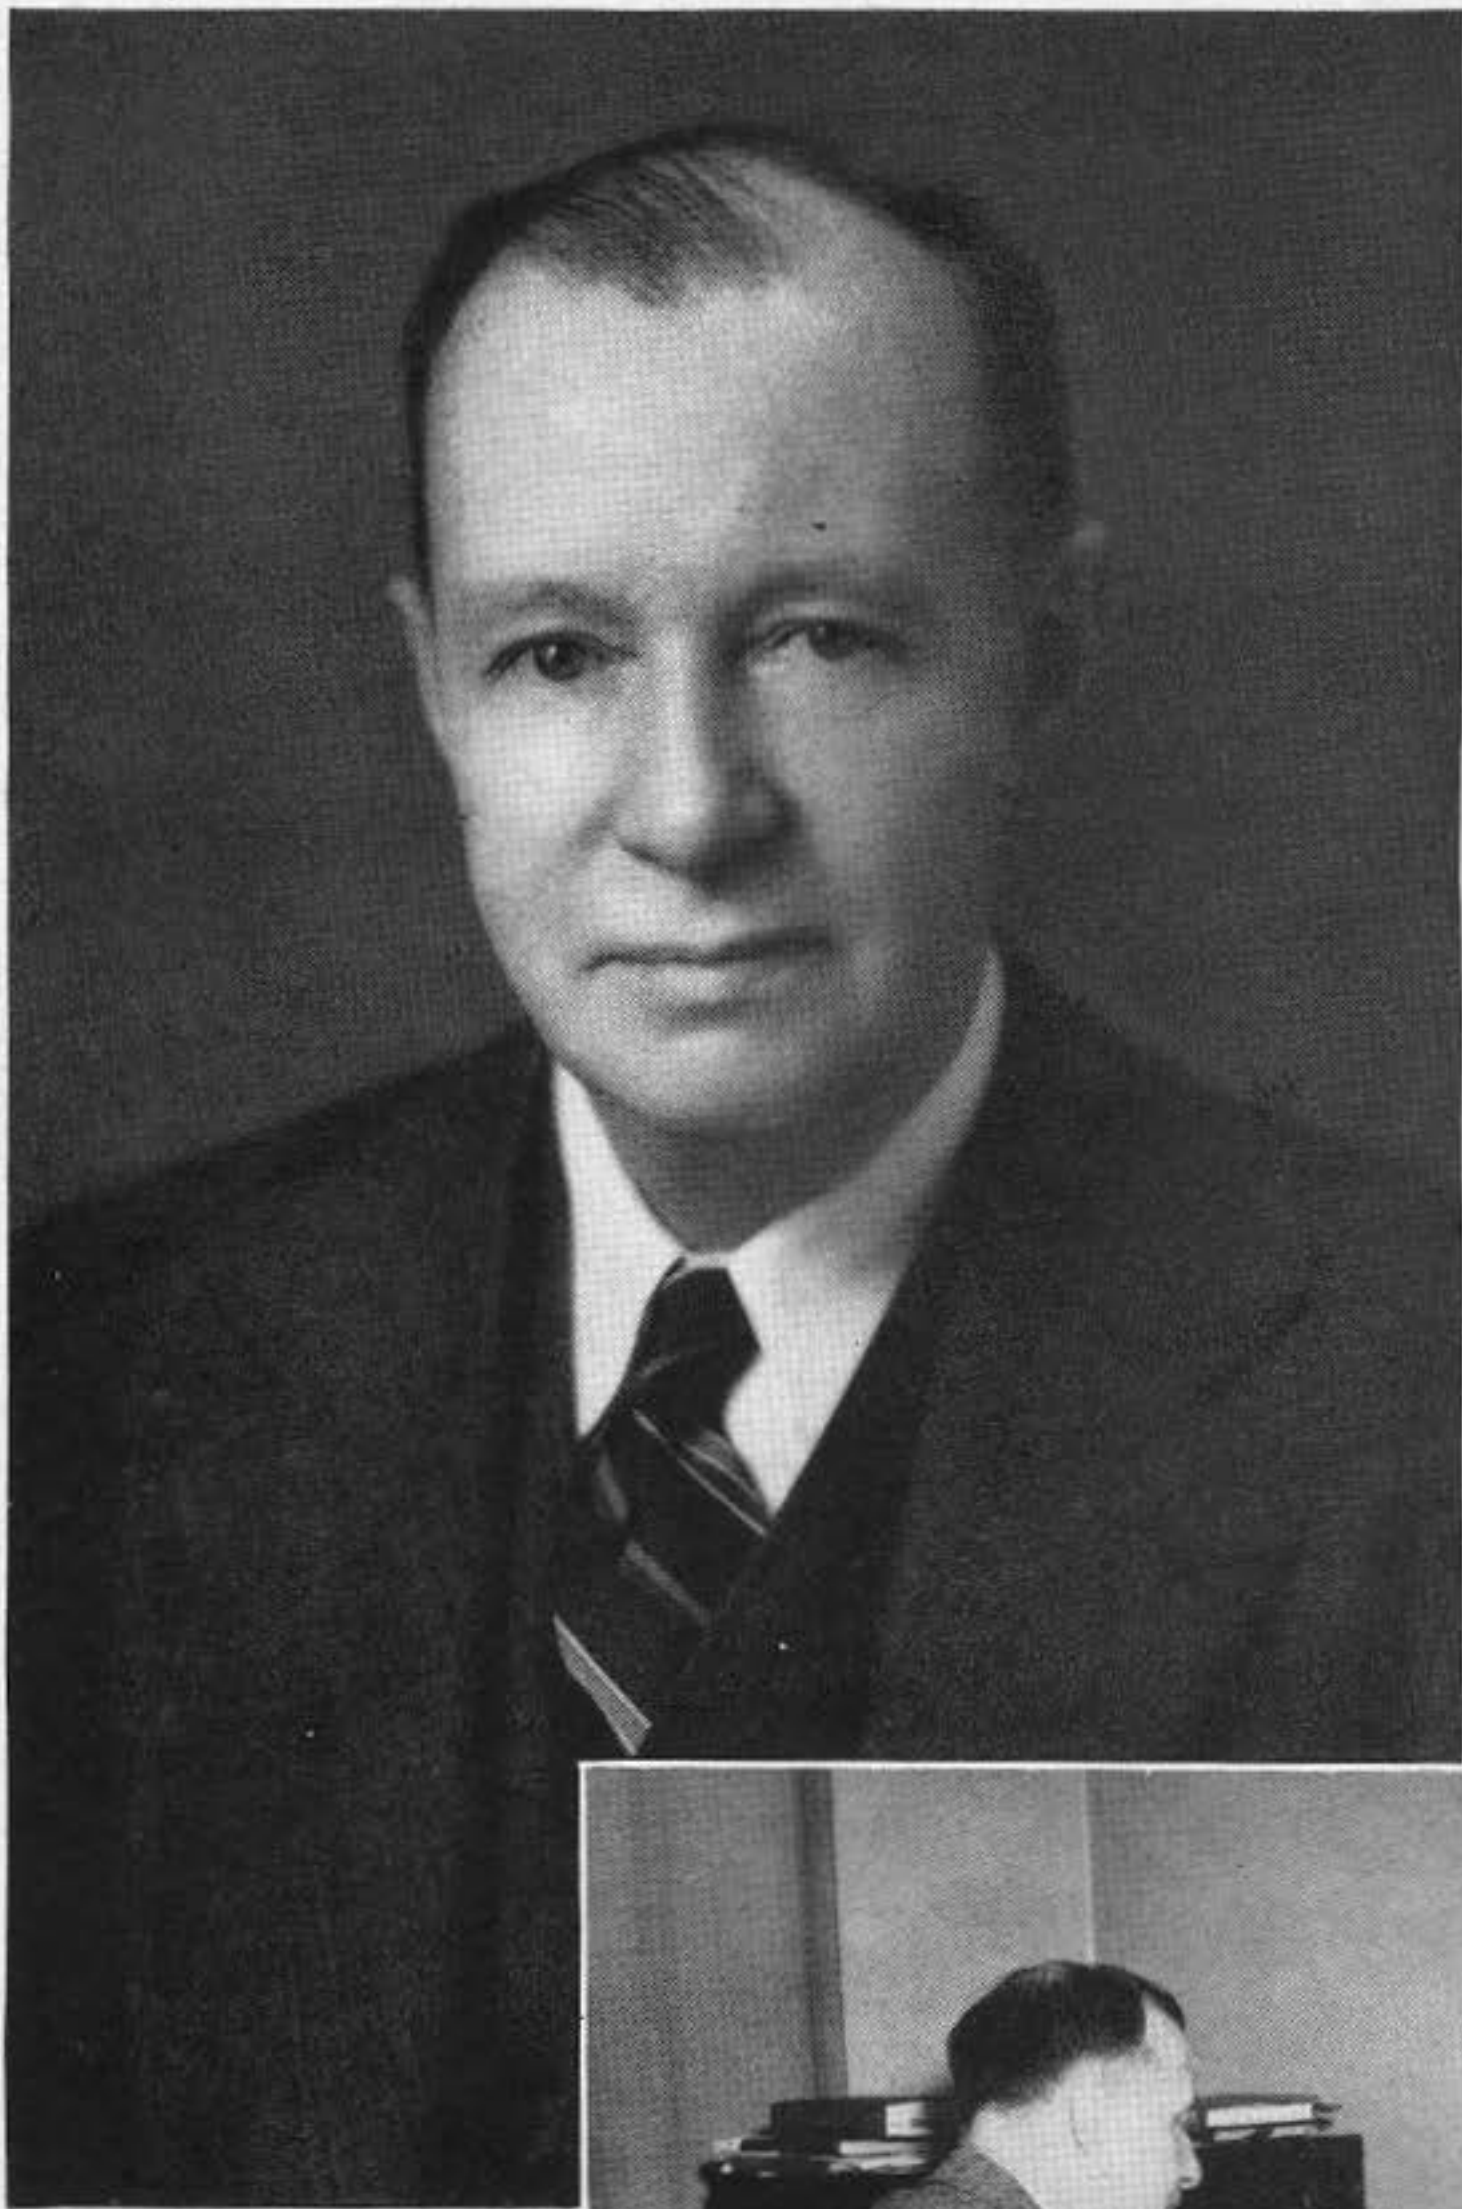

As our financial advisor, Miss Bulger has proved herself to be a master mathematician. Her efficiency in shouldering the responsibilities of the class funds is unexcelled. She has earned, and well deserves our deepest gratitude and admiration.

Verdant Sophomores

"When we were very young."

1940 - 1941

With joyous hearts and eager eyes alight
 The Class of Nineteen Forty-three arrived.
 Young and light-hearted, free from any care,
 Gladly we entered thru those magic doors
 To halls where Wisdom's goddess sits enthroned.

The European war seemed far away—
 We laughed and played, with scarce a thought about
 The fear that reigned beyond the ocean wastes.

The elms that stretched forth their protecting arms,
 The towering dome that shimmered in the sun,
 The fresh green ivy twining o'er the walls,
 The flag pole with "Old Glory" waving free,—
 These things of beauty gave us love of truth
 And roused a song of gladness in our hearts.
 Our entrance into High School marked the start
 Of something new. With eager, happy minds
 We wondered what the next three years would bring.

Soon we had made new friends. We came to feel
 That now we were a part of Pittsfield
 High.
 We learned to treat with deference and respect
 All of our upperclassmen, who, we thought,
 Were much too high and mighty for our taste.

Examination time came much too soon
 And many a weary, sleepless night we spent
 Waiting our first reports at Pittsfield High.
 Alas, the Fates frowned down on most of us
 And through the halls, discouraged sighs were heard.

But in the field of sports we showed our skill
 When Jayne Hearn sent her arrow speeding straight
 To first place in the archery tournament.

The crimson leaves of autumn left the boughs,
 And soon, before we knew it, came the snow—
 Light, dancing flakes that mingled with our mirth,
 Soft, glistening snow that matched our Christmas carols
 In purity and loveliness and calm.
 The winter months sped by on carefree wings;
 We passed from day to day, from week to week,
 Exalted with the very joy of living,
 That joy which springs from being safe and free.

There wasn't much excitement through the year,
 Our school life was just regular routine.
 We had few cares; our little lives were filled
 With trivial tasks, with things we liked to do.
 Ah yes! it was, indeed, a happy year.

ivacious Juniors

"Our hearts were young and gay."

1941 - 1942

How gay and proud and confident we felt
 When we, as Juniors, came back in the fall
 To start our second year at Pittsfield High.
 Now, laughing at the Sophs, we realized
 How small and quite befuddled we had been!
 We really did not seem so childish now—
 One year of high school life had given us poise;
 However, we did not pretend to be
 Sedate or supercilious or wise.

Oh no! we loved to laugh and sing and play;
 We fairly bubbled over with our zeal
 In seeking all the joys that life might hold.

At the beginning of our Junior year,
 We had some definite changes in the school.

Our first girl cheer leaders at Pittsfield
 High
 Made their appearance at the football games;
 A chic, blonde Junior, Bette Westover
 Was chosen leader of the new girl squad.
 In mid-November something new began:
 A social dancing class got under way
 With sixty pupils learning how to waltz!

And soon, we had our Junior Class election
 At which we chose the officers for our class.
 Joe Boudreau was elected president,
 A quiet, capable, and well-liked boy.
 Each one of us was busy all the time
 With either school work or our social life.
 True, there was talk of national defense
 And boys' vocational classes were enlarged.
 But most of us thought only of ourselves;

All talk and thoughts of war were cast aside;
 We calmly took each day for what it was
 And went about our business quite content.

Thanksgiving, with its turkey and mince pies,
 Came quickly, and as quickly sped away,
 And in its place left cold, snow-clad December,

The month that revolutionized our lives.
 December, dread December 'forty-one,
 December seventh, the "day of infamy,"
 December 'forty-one, we'll not forget
 The bitterness and heartache that you brought.

At mid-day on December eighth we met,
 Students and faculty in solemn mood,
 To hear our President, in ringing tones,
 Declare America was now at war!

Not one of us can easily forget
The burning in our hearts, the searing pain
That came with those few terse and dreadful words.

America at war! We scarce conceived
The full import of this soul-stirring news,
It seemed so terrible and sad to our young minds.

Our troubled eyes looked to the Christmas
stars,

For they alone remained serene and bright
Above the black and angry smoke of war.

The enemy had caught us unawares,
And so, during the first few months of war,
Our nation worked with lightning, frantic speed
To keep the enemy from off our shores.
At Pittsfield High, our air raid drills began;

And many teachers joined a first aid class;
The Household Arts girls sewed on children's clothes
To help the Red Cross in its mercy
missions;
And with a zeal to us before unknown,
We gave our time and strength to salvage drives.
The sale of war stamps gradually increased,
And slowly we began to understand
That every little sacrifice we made
Was going to help America win the war.

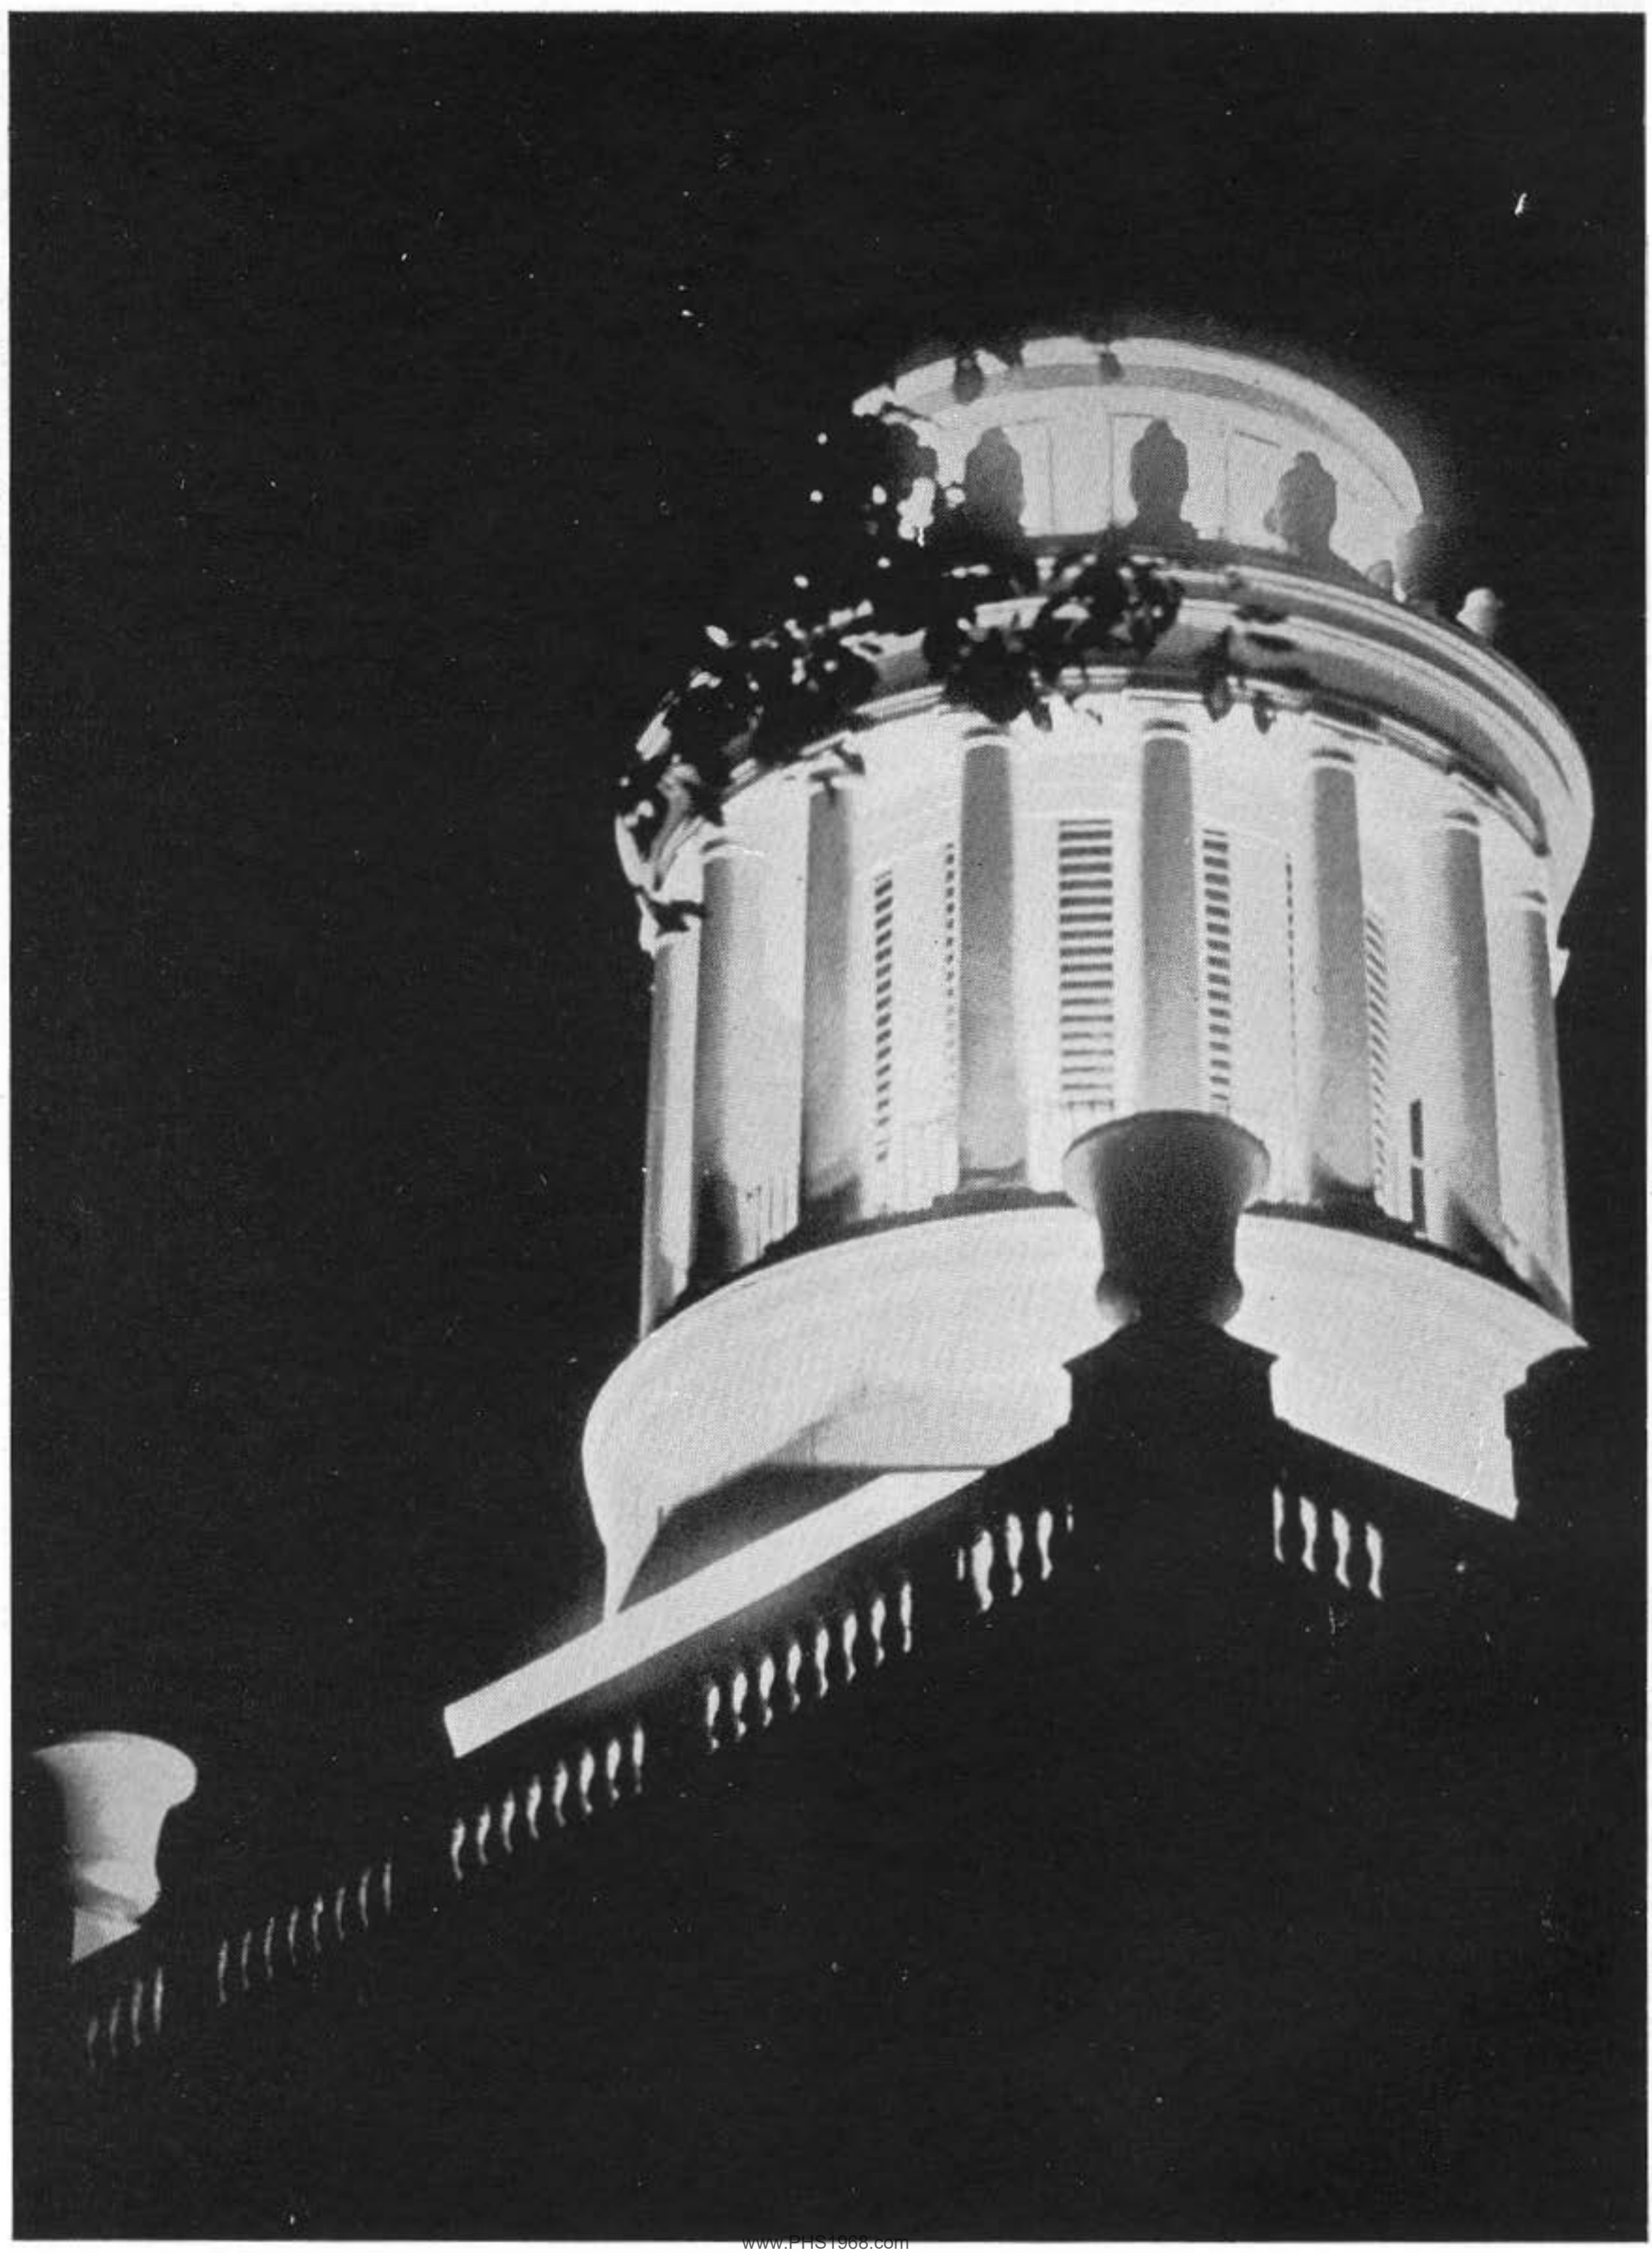

Although we were at war, we firmly vowed
 That we would have a Junior Prom that year.
 LaForrest Smith, as chairman of the Prom,
 Gave us a most inspiring feast of fun.
 We thoroughly enjoyed the clever plan
 Of using the United Nations theme
 As the foundation for our Junior Prom.
 And surely, even after many years,
 We'll look back on the Prom with happy thoughts.

In May, the sugar rationing began,
 And several junior girls helped at the schools
 In issuing the first war ration book.
 Our school routine had many interruptions,
 But we did not become too much upset;
 We were determined that we'd hold our own.

Each of us turned with ardor to our task,
 Resolved to do our part. The spring days
 passed;
 Quickly our junior year came to a close,
 A year of peril and of world-wide strife,
 A hard year that had made us strong and brave!

Valiant Seniors

*"Here's to a bright tomorrow
That is born of a brave today!"*

1942 - 1943

We never dreamed that time could fly so fast;
 'Twas fall again, and now the day had come,
 When we, as mighty seniors could hold sway
 In our own glorious domain at Pittsfield High.
 But actually being seniors was not quite
 As wonderful as we had dreamed 'twould be.
 In truth, as individuals, we did not feel
 So very different from the previous year.
 But we obeyed the dictates of tradition
 And "put on airs," as proper seniors should!

However, soon the novelty wore off;
 Gladly we doffed our artificial shells.
 It was a great relief to be ourselves,
 Sincere and sympathetic, friendly, kind.
 Our country was at war, and each of us
 Felt we should help break down class barriers,
 Because in time of war there is no place
 For petty rivalries or selfish pride.

At once we felt the hard impact of war.
 But seven short September days had passed
 When Mr. Conroy, who had been our wise
 Mentor and guide throughout our junior year,
 Left for the Army Air Corps; and our band
 Went early in the morning to the train
 To play a rousing musical good-bye.

Now as the new school year got under way,
Our programs showed the effect of war-time plans.

More stress was laid upon the sciences;
A class in aeronautics was begun
For all the senior and the junior boys.
Instruction in nutrition for the girls
In Household Arts began in early fall.
And many boys and girls, eager to serve,
Joined First Aid classes that were being held.

A useful pre-induction group was formed
In Morse code and new radio technique.
Vigorous physical training made the boys
Hardy and strong in true commando style;
And girls, too, flocked in numbers to the gym
Bending and stretching, striving with keen zest
To be top-notchers in the Fitness Course.

A number of our boys gave up long hours
During November, for the Salvage Drive,
Which brought out tons of valuable scrap
To be turned into guns and tanks and planes

And other war machines for Uncle Sam.
Yes, practically everything we did
Was to prepare us for some vital part
That we might play in this great global war—

A war to save the beauty, the ideals,
The concepts of democracy, the truths
That men, since Time began, have battled for.

With the first snow, the exodus began—
 A number of our classmates left their books
 To join the Army, Navy, or Marines.
 We did not want to face the cold harsh truth
 That soon, so many of our childhood friends
 Would march off to the war, to unknown climes.
 At last the struggle really had "hit home."

There was a greater impetus to join
 The Victory Corps that now was being formed,
 Its motto: "To conserve, to save, to serve."
 Now every day the sale of war stamps soared
 And all of us strove mightily to earn
 The coveted Minute Man Flag for Pittsfield High.

And when at last the flag was rightly ours,
 How proud we were to see it waving there
 Beneath Old Glory, precious, dear Old Glory.
 And we have vowed to keep these two flags free,
 For they are symbols of a happy life;
 They stand for justice, liberty, and love;
 Those two flags, flying in the sunlit air,
 Assure us that no man can conquer Truth!

Through all the spring's bright days our boys have gone

To give their service in our country's need;
So, when we graduate, we shall not feel
As nonchalant and gay and light of heart
As other seniors felt in by-gone years.
But though we live in bitter, trying times,
Our graduation will unfold for us
Much deeper joys and greater challenges
Than former graduations ever knew.
We are the ones upon whose shoulders rests
The future of the world,—a world that holds
A million rich and undiscovered realms
Of happiness for everyone to share.
And we who stay at home must meet the challenge
Of keeping steadfast faith in God and man.

We must hold Freedom's light up high and bright,
So that our classmates on the battlefield,
When they have made the whole world safe for peace,
May come home to a free and happy land.
Our Class of '43 is not afraid.

We're young and strong, prepared for any foe;
We're ready now to face the blackest night—
Because our heritage has made us brave,
Because we know how joyous life can be,
Because we know what peace and freedom mean,
Because we love to live and love to laugh,
Because we have a song within our hearts.

Yes, we're Americans, and we will fight
And fight and fight without a moment's rest
Until we have a safe and decent world.
Yes, we're Americans, and we will work
And work and work until at last we see
The dove of peace with broad and shining wings,
Hovering o'er a friendly, happy world.
Yes, we're Americans, and we will build
And build and build, and never cease to build
For Victory, for Victory and Peace!

Alma Mater Song

Words by ESTHER KIERSTEAD '38 and FRIEND KIERSTEAD, JR., '39

Tune: "All Through The Night"

Guardian elm trees cast their shadows
O'er thy ivied walls;
Sons and daughters ever loyal
Throng thy honored halls.
Pittsfield High School, Pittsfield High School,
Alma Mater dear,
Help us to preserve thy honor
Through each coming year.

Great has been thy former record,
Greater will it be,
As the future generations
Sing their praise to thee.
Proud are we who through thy portals
Into life do pass;
Help us ever to be worthy,
Each and every class.

AWAY

*I cannot say and I will not say
That she is dead! She is just away.*

*With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
She has wandered into an unknown land.*

*And left us dreaming how very fair
It must be, since she lingers there.*

*The touches of her hands have stayed
As reverently as her lips have prayed.*

*Think of her still the same, I say;
She is not dead——she is just away.*

Foundations for Peace

(Maplewood Prize Essay)

WRITTEN BY HELEN SUHINSKI

PEACE is not an end in itself. It is a condition for the realization of a world of social and economic justice and of human freedom. The history of the world has been one of struggles, struggles to keep open the door to this kind of peace. Men have yearned, killed, and died for it. Yet, whenever it was won, they did nothing to keep it, and its misuse led to the necessity of repeating the bloody process. These struggles brought the world nothing but disaster and ruin. The future will not be brighter unless man starts planning now, planning to shut the door to war and lay the firm foundations of a just, durable, and charitable peace. Peace cannot be preserved by putting the future in a strait jacket, but only by seeking to control, change, and direct it. It is the result of positive, creative, and constructive policy.

The plans for the organization of peace must draw upon past experience. We should plan for a world of freedom, social justice, economic and political security; a world in which human intelligence will organize and distribute the ample resources of nature so that all can live abundantly; a world in which intelligence will be devoted to human progress rather than to destruction; a world in which man's labor may be directed toward his own advancement. We must extend unalienable rights to all men. The right to live, not just exist, should be denied to none. It should be a just peace, because nothing permanent can be built on hate and violence. The peace plans should measure up to the Wilsonian ideal: "A justice that plays no favorites and knows no standard but the equal rights of the several peoples concerned." There cannot be any trustworthy security except by giving the decent elements in a people a chance to cooperate in the work of peace. No nation can be punished as a whole and at the same time leave any hope of lasting peace. These peace plans should be made now while there is still time to think out the problems of lasting peace. When hostilities cease, there is a cry for haste, and men's hearts are filled with hate and revenge.

The United States must have the largest share in the peace making, because it is the strongest power in the world. No international system is possible without its cooperation. If it withdraws from the execution of the peace plans, this peace, too, will fail. The United States will carry the greatest burden after the war. What the American people want is a world in which they can live and enjoy lasting peace. Cooperation that will make this possible is the price we are asking in return for canceling the material obligations that will be due when victory has been won.

Representative government is the best foundation of hope for a lasting peace. It generally breeds peaceable aims. Fostering it should play a large part in the better organization of the conquered countries that will be restored to independence. Representative government should be used as an incentive to the people of the Axis powers to abandon their old ways and become peaceful nations. We cannot force the idea of representative government on them, because the lasting acceptance of any governing idea lies in the intellectual processes of races. We should strive to at least have them accept the principles, and then nurture it for long years to come.

Peace can only start when a group of nations cares enough about it to be willing to wage war against a violator of international law. All the blunders committed by the democratic governments during the past two fatal decades were justified on the ground that peace was what we wanted above all, and that only by accepting the aggressions of others could the democracies preserve this precious peace. We must institute the legal use of force by a central authority. Postwar planners are convinced that the only way to maintain peace permanently is to be prepared to enforce it, and their bold intention is to prevent any future Hitler-led nations from becoming strong enough to start another such war. Any scheme which suggests solving the problem of peace without the legal use of force in international affairs is utopian. It has never worked, and it never will work. Peace is law. Law is the justified use of force. Consequently, peace without the employment of force is inconceivable. In any kind of planning for the future, on whatever basis we want to organize the relationship among peoples, the condition of success is the recognition of force as an indispensable reality.

The joint will of nations, their vigorous cooperation, the generosity of large countries whose very strength obliges them to be the most just, the aspiration of weak countries to strengthen themselves, not in the material sense, not by territorial expansion, but by their intellectual and moral improvement, the faith of all in justice, mutual confidence and mutual respect—these are the foundations of a peace without balances of power.

Peace is what man makes it. Plans alone cannot assure lasting peace. The things that make for success, the willingness of people to fill their obligations, sound, enlightened public opinion, the honest effort of men to study the peace problems and find solutions for them, have as great a bearing on lasting peace as the plans. Intelligent public interest must prepare the way. Machinery should be set up to provide for international cooperation to preserve peace. The plans of religious leaders to spiritualize the inner man are essential to any peace. If man finds the inspiration to strive for peace, he works more diligently for it.

Here is the chance to bind the wounds, to restore faith, to bring new hope to the world, and to make peace on earth, good will toward men a reality. Can we meet the challenge? We must!

Coming - Yeomen of the Guard April 29-30

Class Will

WE, AS the guardians of the portals of Pittsfield High School, being of reasonably sound mind and body, do hereby will and bequeath the treasures of our invincible fortress to the following officers of the guard:

To Mr. Strout—an active, efficient Victory Corps.

To Miss Millett—a book of “King’s English” idioms (full stop). In addition, our heartfelt thanks for having so ably advised and guided us in meeting our problems and duties as a Senior Class.

To Miss Bulger—our sincere thanks for keeping our budget straight and out of the “red.”

To Miss Parker—a group of well-behaved young girls who will not haunt her office.

To Mr. Goodwin—glasses that will automatically come off in Senior Math. when he jumps up.

To Mr. Moran—a class that will steer clear of trouble.

To Miss Pfeiffer—an elastic linotype press as an accommodation and headache-saver for her and the “Pen” staff. (Also a subscription to “True Romance”).

To Mr. Herberg—the right to be a happy man.

To Mr. Lynch—a new batch of meter sticks, extra heavy.

To Miss Nagle—a reception room for her many young visitors.

To Mr. Herrick—a clean desk and a dozen pencils.

To Mr. Maloney—also a subscription to “True Romance” (amazing how popular this magazine is among the faculty).

To Mr. C. Murphy—a great big can in which to “can the chatter” after the “buzzer’s buzzed.”

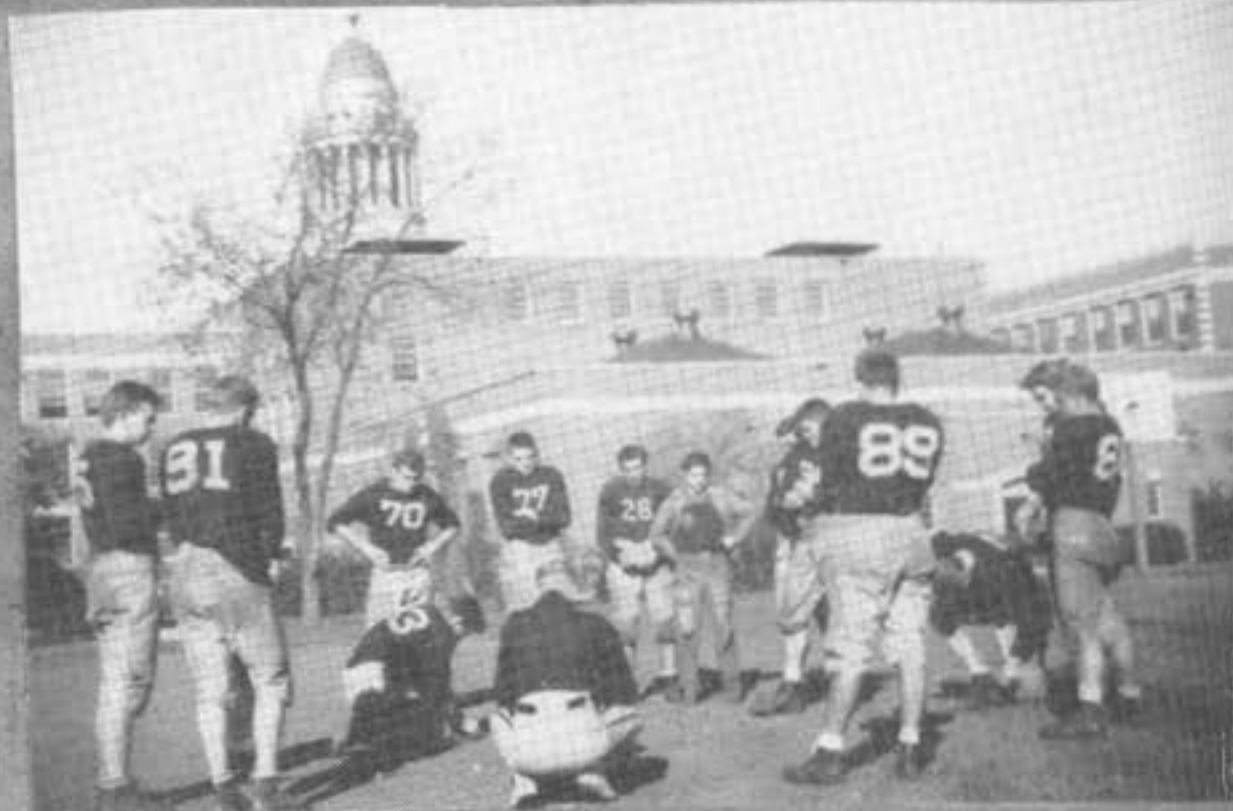

To Miss Daly—yards and yards of oil cloth to cover all the Spanish books.

To Miss Morris—at least one pupil whose work is “good.”

To Mr. Leahy—two books—“Life With Father” and “How to Ski in Ten Easy Lessons.”

To Miss Conlon—stationary desks and chairs in Room 235 so that restless sophies will stay put.

To Mr. C. McMahon—an H₂S for his chem. lab. that will have the aroma of roses (how third floor passers-by would love that!)

To Miss Davison—more window space for her plants.

To Mr. Stewart—a football team that will beat Adams.

To Mr. Joyce—a sending key so he can practice his Morse code.

To Mr. Murray—a class that knows how to read gas and electric meters.

To Miss Casey—for the trees outside Room 138, the French placards that she did not get for Christmas.

To Mr. Hennessy—several gallons of ink so he won't have to ration it.

To Miss Murphy—students who will not fail to return their milk bottles when in the cafeteria.

To Miss Viger—a nice, quiet study hall.

To Miss Musgrove—a pair of roller skates for speedy travel through the corridors.

To Mr. Spina—a half dozen white shirts.

To Miss McLaughlin—a mechanical piano that will make up tunes as it goes along.

To Miss McNaughton—a pair of silver-winged skates.

To Mr. Gorman—a summer suit equipped with a heating system to keep him warm on winter days.

To Miss Kaliher—some students who will appreciate her matching tests.

To Miss Morse—the sabbatical year that she has wanted for so long.

To Mr. L. Murphy—a B card so we can have more glimpses of that pretty yellow car.

To Mr. Carey—a trip to the good old Emerald Isle.

To the Juniors—Miss Kaliher's tests and our best wishes.

To the Sophies—a little of our own dignity (?)

To the rest of the faculty—thanks for the guidance, fun, and knowledge they have given us in the past three years.

In testimony whereof we, the Class of 1943, have hereafter set our seal and signature on this the 13th day of June in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-three in the presence of the following witnesses:

Phoebe and Fairfax

and yeomen and citizens.

"The Yeomen of the Guard"

THE eventful presentation of "The Yeomen of the Guard" by the Class of 1943 on the evenings of April 29th and 30th set a high standard for Pittsfield High School operettas. With the dimming of the lights and the staccato taps of Mr. Gorman's able baton, the overture began, weaving hints of the unforgettable Gilbert and Sullivan melodies which were later enlarged upon in the course of the performance.

The leading characters gave spirited portrayals in their individual roles. Francis Molloy—as the gay and gallant Colonel Fairfax, and Evelyn Tainter—as the beauteous Elsie Maynard, gave a charming presentation of the romantic interest. Florence Gomes was excellent as the clever Phoebe, while Frank Barrecca, as Jack Point, danced and sang his role of the jester with commendable ease and skill. Richard Carpenter as Wilfred, and Douglas Butler as the Lieutenant presented their roles with fine realism. William Milton III, playing dual roles of Leonard Meryll and the First Yeoman, handled both with agility. As the forceful Dame Carruthers, Phyllis Cooley gave a vivid interpretation of the more-than-willing female pursuing the reluctant Sergeant Meryll, a part well handled by Carl Proper. Earl Proper—as the Second Yeoman, and Patricia Smith as Kate, in spite of small parts, made a distinct contribution to the evening's enjoyment. The part of the dauntless headsman was realistically portrayed by Norman Bornak.

The combined choruses did a splendid job, both on their own and as a melodious background for the leading characters, while the orchestra of chosen players from the school's orchestra played the difficult music with ease. All these factors, augmented by the competence of John Evans, General Chairman; Delight Bullock and William Wagner, Co-chairmen of tickets; Margaret Maloney, chairman of programs; Priscilla Musgrove and Russell Bousquet, chairmen of ushers and door-men; Donald Gilbert, stage chairman; Edward George, publicity chairman; and their energetic committees;—all these contributed to the success of the "Yeomen."

Thanks must go to Mr. Gorman, who gave us an opera of which we may be proud. In the words of all who participated, "We wish we could give it again!"

Wital Sports

*"Our business is like men to fight,
And hero-like to die."*

Americanism on the Sports-Field

Many of the outstanding exploits of World War II, have been performed by former high school and college sport heroes. These American champs of the world are proving that the qualities that make good athletes are the qualities that make good soldiers. A gridster requires a stiff physical training in order to wage a fight on the "battlefield between the goal posts." No "pansies" are allowed. The hockey player fights in cold weather and suffers body slams and occasional hockey stick clubbings; yet the rinkster retains coolness for elusive maneuvering. He outclasses any Jap in agility. Basketball has no room for weaklings or speed-slackers or inconsistent offense chargers with shaky defense garrisons. Baseball, America's favorite sport, requires men in the peak of condition mentally and physically for clever and snappy play. Infantrymen need lightning swiftness and crack springiness in making assaults over trenches and shell holes or in scampering over wreckage—track sprinters are infantry fledglings. American athletics produce men worthy to enjoy, cherish, and defend the democratic ideals of a free nation.

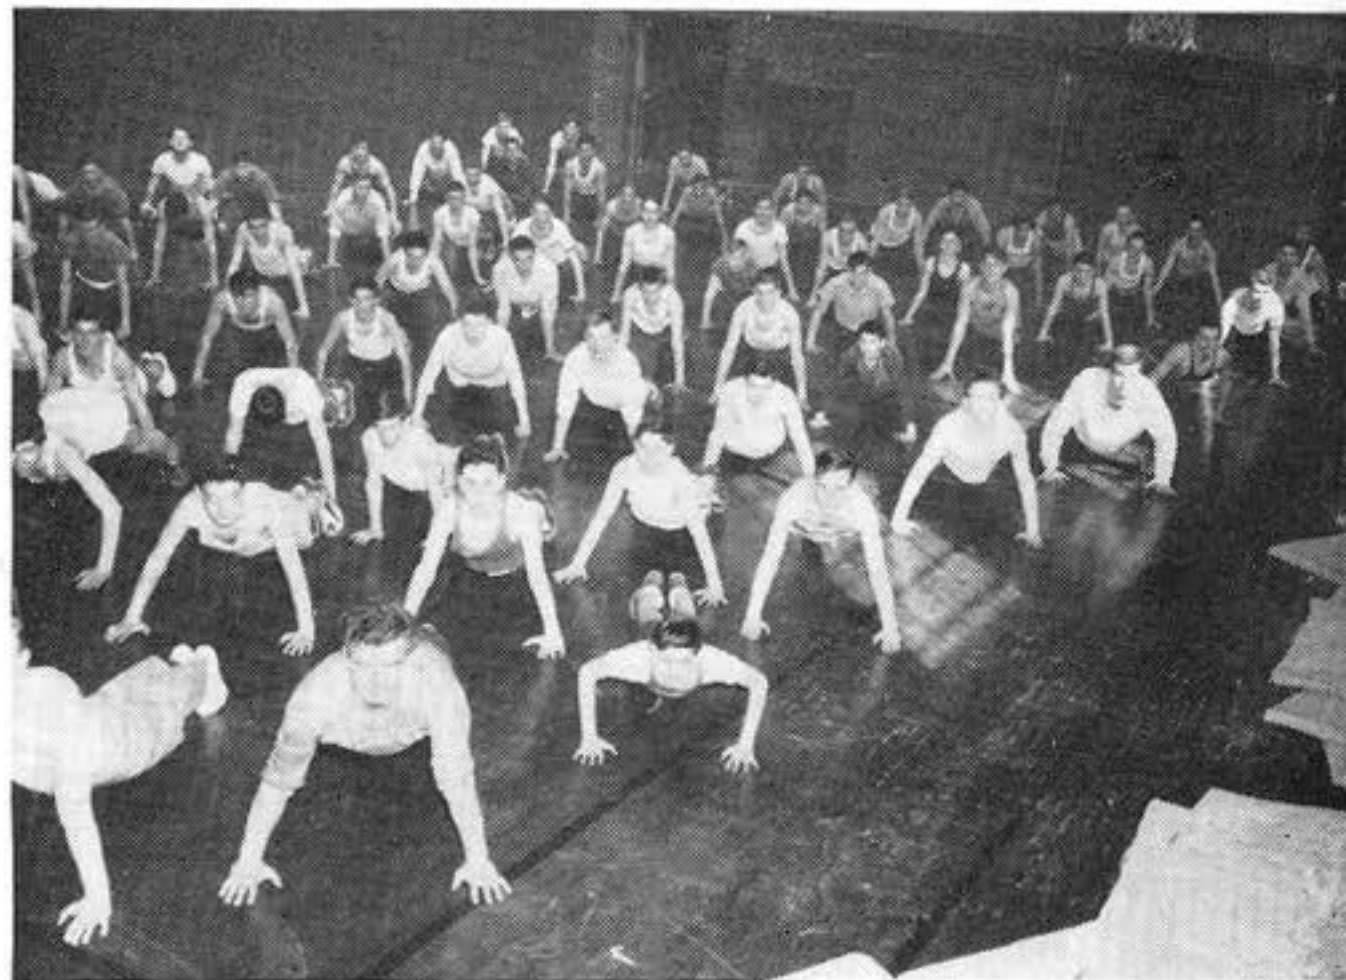

Physical Fitness for Nephews of Uncle Sam

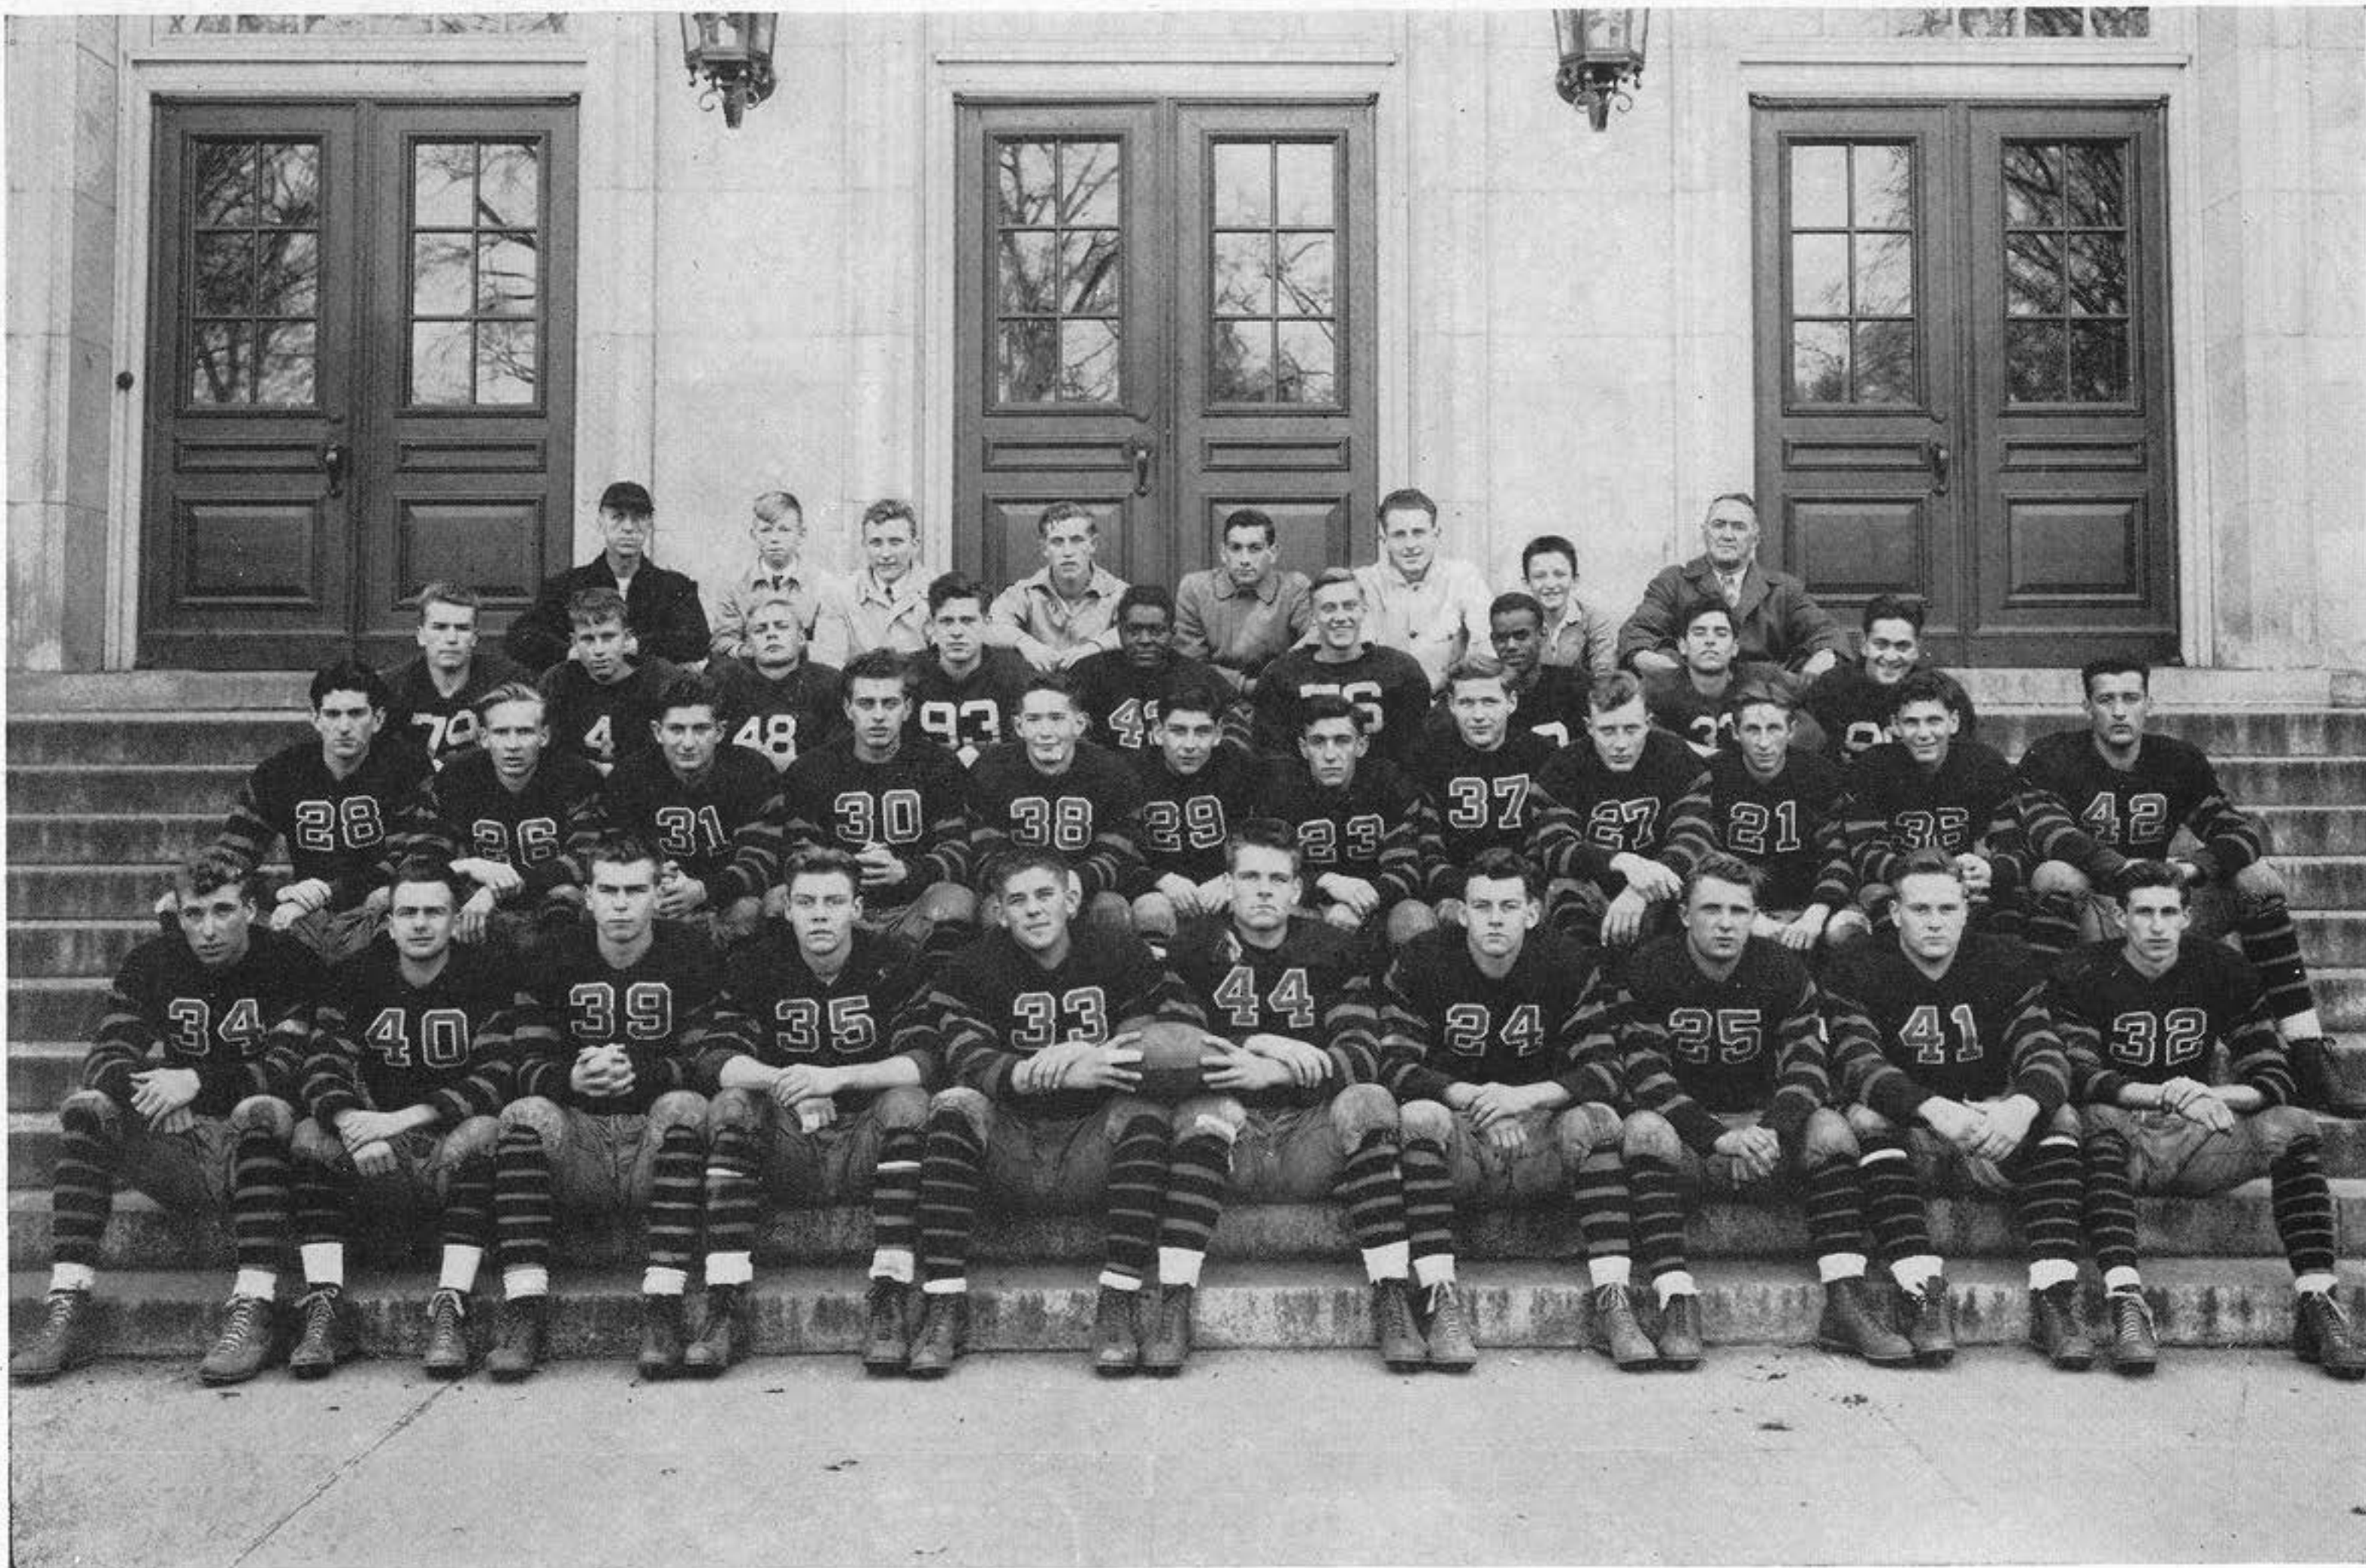

As 1942 disappeared from the calendar, many boys vanished from the P. H. S. study halls. The fellows were soon discovered, however, not a bit the worse (except for slight muscle soreness) for the quick turn from a lazy study hall environment to a vigorous life in the gymnasium.

Coach Carmody, a veteran of World War I, supervised the training of the physical "greenies." Utilizing boxing, wrestling, acrobatics on the tumbling mats, work on the high bar and parallel bars—all for victory—Coach strove to make the nephews of Uncle Sam undefeatable. Slowly but most certainly, backs straightened, shoulders broadened, chests expanded, and sluggish walking began to give way to a military stride.

The boys drilled and exercised under group leaders answerable to the chief instructor, Coach Carmody. Although classes were of necessity large, each fellow went through the same prescribed drills as "George did."

In the P. H. S. gym, future American soldiers were being moulded, strong, courageous fighters that would be prepared to defend a free life against "chains and slavery."

Front row: 1. to r. Bauer, Ricci, Oslund, Miller, Fields co-captain, Smith co-captain, Anderson, Pictrowski, Fitzgerald, Paulaski.

Football

The P. H. S. footballers suffered a decided setback in their 1942 season. Though they emerged from this hard campaign with but one victory registered, they may well be given a hand for their "never die" spirit.

For the opening game the grid men journeyed to Greenfield. To its dismay, P. H. S. encountered an aggressive group of players, and before the game ended, the foe had chalked up 27 points to our nothing. The following Saturday, Tech of Springfield invaded Dorothy Deming Park and pounded its way to a 20-0 victory. Forgetting the past and starting anew, our boys next took to the field against a more powerful eleven, Albany Academy. The outcome was a 13-0 P. H. S. setback. On October 17, our warriors marched against a favored Adams gridiron club and suffered a defeat of 32-0. The initial win of the season came the following week, after an inspiring rally by the student body and the faculty. The recorded score was P. H. S. 13, Drury of North Adams 7. On home ground the next Saturday, our eleven suffered its worst defeat of the season. We were trounced, to the tune of 50-12, by Poughkeepsie. Climaxing its seven game schedule, came a tilt with St. Joe, in which P. H. S. fought its foe to a scoreless tie.

Though the season was not a glorious one for P. H. S., recognition should be given for outstanding play to Co-captains "Fran" Fields and LaForest Smith; to "Bob" Miller, "Dick" Anderson, "Tom" Ricci, and "Ted" Oslund; and to the team as a whole for excellent sportsmanship.

Basketball

The basketball fans of Pittsfield High School had something to cheer about this season. In recent years there have been a few stars on each team, but this year was an exceptional one for us at Pittsfield High, for each member of the varsity was a star in his own right. Our boys tasted defeat only three times during their entire campaign, but these three were heart-breakers.

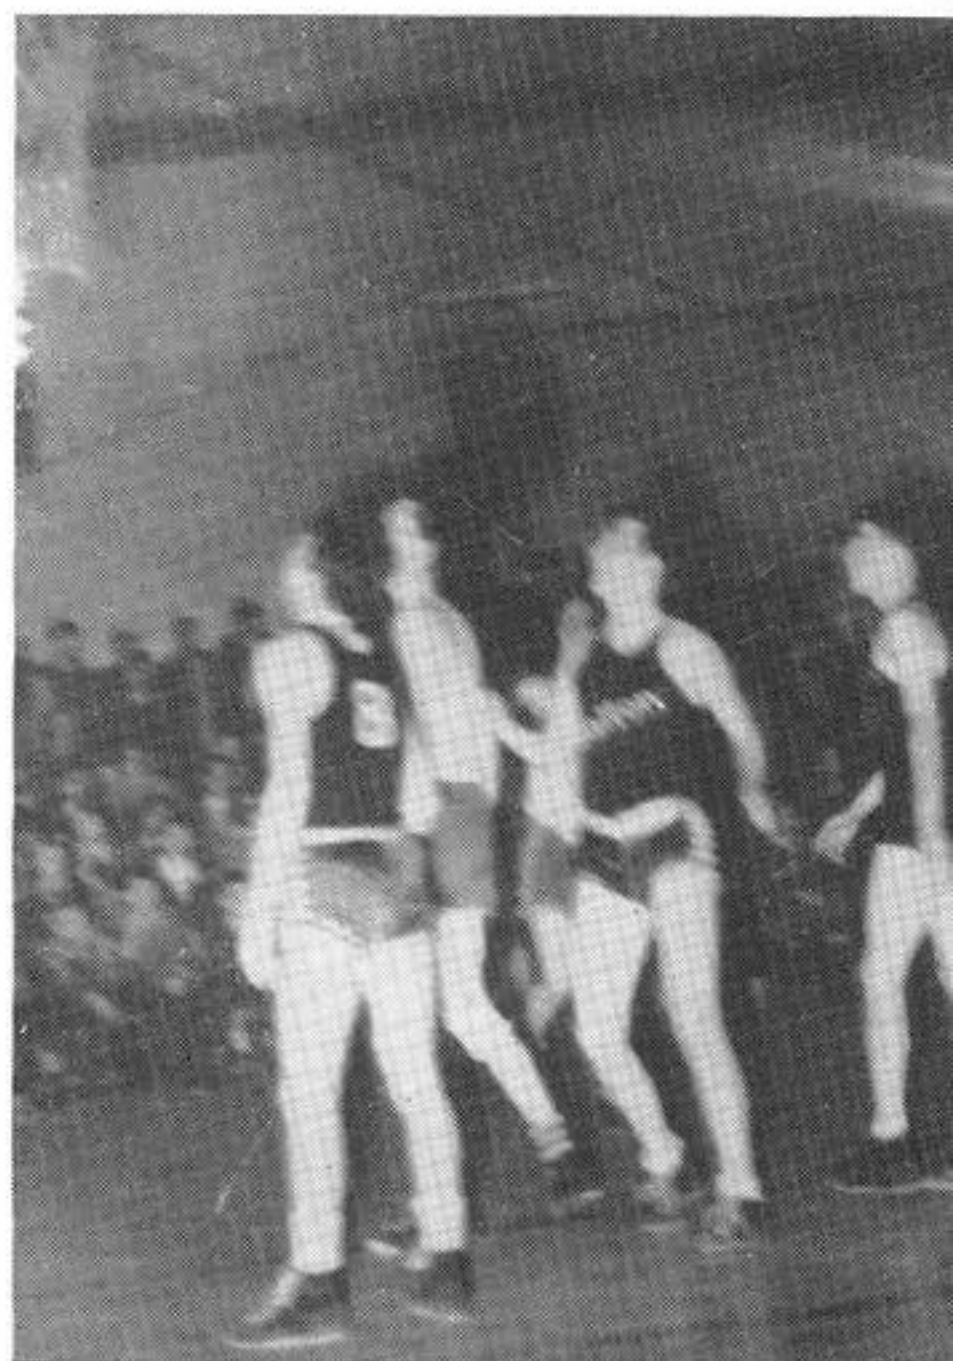

Pittsfield opened the season with two brilliant road victories, the victims being Williamstown and Bennington. However, our morale was dealt a crushing blow at our home court debut. An underdog Dalton team emerged victor in a furious contest by the slim margin of one point. Gritting their teeth, the Purple and White quintet swept through the remaining first half of the schedule with impressive wins over Drury, Adams, St. Joe (North Adams), and our hard-fighting arch-rival, St. Joe of Pittsfield.

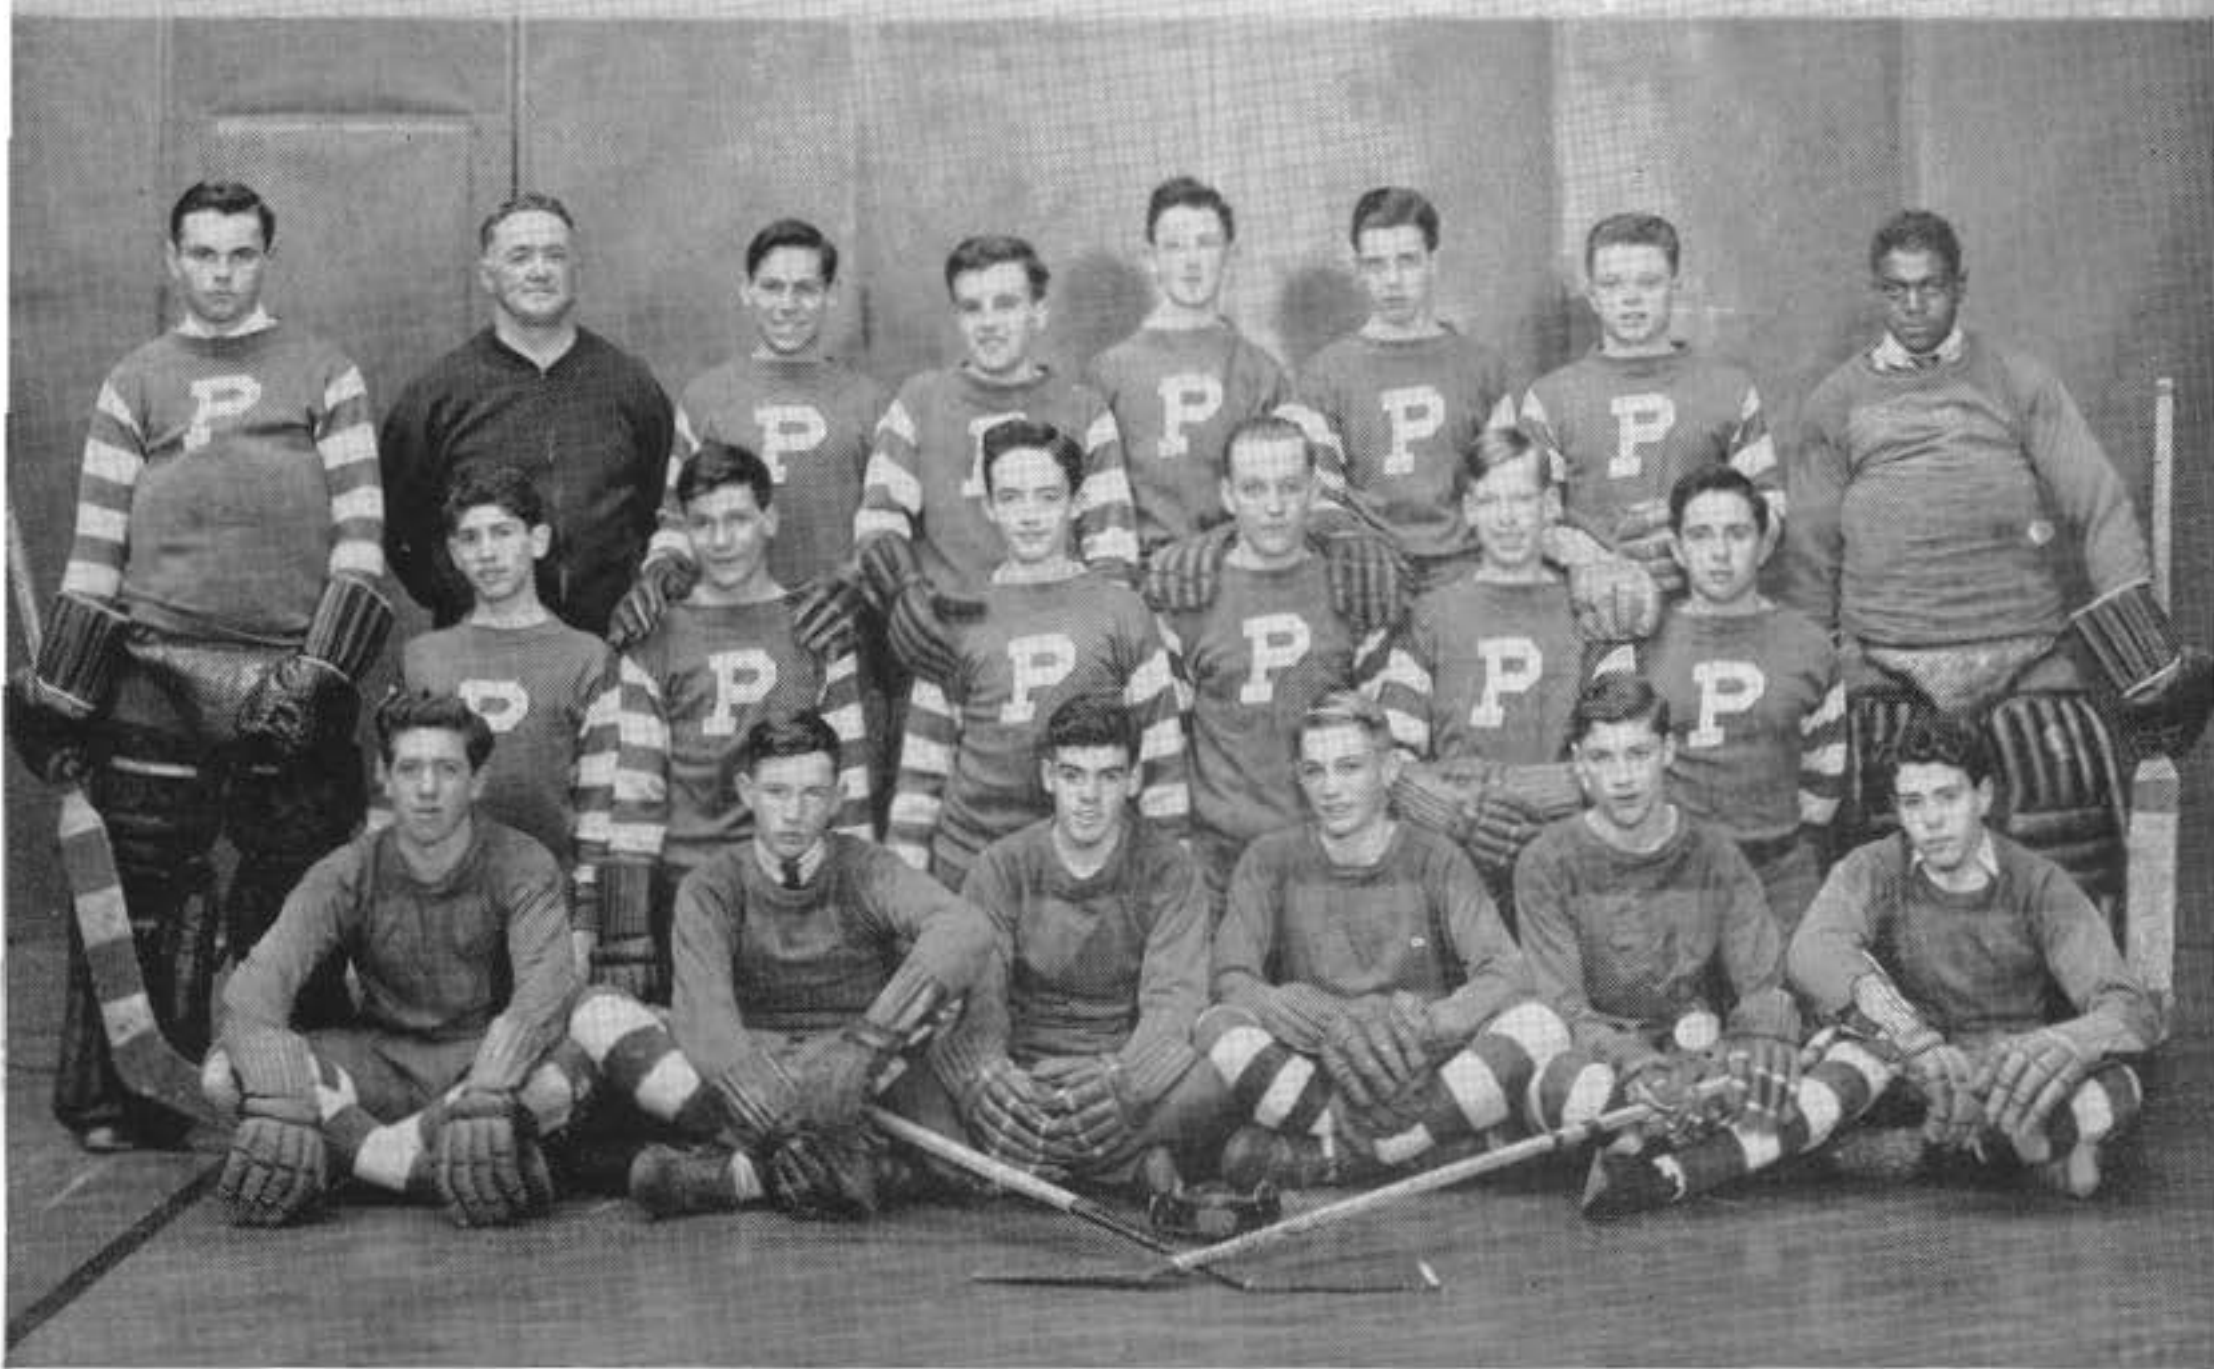

Our jersey men renewed hostilities for the second half of the schedule by playing Williamstown. Led by phenomenal "Bill" Hart, the inspired Williamstown team defeated P. H. S. in a close contest. Then the varsity bounced back to the win column, overwhelming Bennington, and chalking up in rapid succession, victories over Dalton, Drury, and Adams. With the defeat of St. Joe of Pittsfield 54-31, the city title was clenched. The team completed its schedule by trouncing St. Joseph of North Adams.

Then came the thrilling County series. Pittsfield won the first game 42-35, but in the second contest Lee avenged its previous defeat, nosing out Pittsfield by one heart-breaking point. Much to the joy of the Shire City fans, the third game went to Pittsfield 39-21.

In a special Red Cross benefit, Pittsfield maintained its high rank by defeating a visiting Westfield quintet 31-28.

For a fine record, hats off to the Berkshire County Champions of 1943.

Front row: Gomes, Jones, Troy, Edman, Scelsi, Vallin.

Second row: Boudreau, Del Gallo, Vacchina, Moloy, Flynn, Evans, Giovanetti, Reid.

Third row: Coach Carmody, Marchetto, Fotaro, Scott, Blanc, Ferry.

Hockey

1942 - 1943

Owing to unfavorable skating conditions, the hockey team was forced to reduce its activities this year to three encounters and a limited amount of practice. Other games would have been scheduled, but as a result of the erratic weather, any such plans had to be dropped. The Pittsfield High starting sextet consisted of the able veterans Johnny Evans and Hank Flynn at the wing positions, Louis Giovanetti at center, and Bill Bunt and Ken Ferry at the defense. Al Boudreau, playing his first year as goalie, tended the nets in fine fashion. Bill Bunt, Louis Giovanetti, and Johnny Evans were the high scorers of the team, each having three goals.

In their first encounter, the boys got off to a bad start and were handed a 2-0 defeat by the Darrow School. Although the team fought hard throughout the game, it was unable to overcome the powerful Darrow six. After a period of inactivity due to bad weather, Pittsfield and Darrow met for the second time. The team avenged its previous defeat by overwhelming the Darrow team by a score of 9-2. In the final game of the season, the boys met the Lebanon School sextet, and on bad ice scrapped with them in a 2-2 deadlock.

The Pittsfield team, though not a great aggregation during the season, made a creditable showing and proved that the boys had the fight and ability to win.

First Row—Reder, Broverman, Zarvis, Rich, Russo, Alessio, Prendergast, Voll, Maloy

Second Row—Milne, DeWitt, Elso, Alberti, Naranjo, Wiley, Dallmeyer, Walchenbach

Third Row—Coach Carmody, Theboda, Ricci, Phinney, Oslund, Paulaski, Volsky, Reynolds, Scaduto, Conley

Track Team

1943

This year due to war regulations governing the use of buses for athletic purposes, the team is the heir to a schedule that is as definite as the Berkshire weather. Because of the size of the team, the only practical means of travel that remains is the railroad. In this manner, the squad will go to Springfield for the annual Western Massachusetts Tournament. This year, the boys are intent on regaining the Western Massachusetts Championship, which they lost last June by a small margin. Another meet is being planned with Berkshire School. All other meets will have to be played with teams located near the railroad.

Track, one of the less publicized sports, requires as much physical exertion as any major sport. The player must be able to summon his utmost strength quickly for a period of a few seconds or minutes. In order to get in such condition the boys must have a strenuous daily practice. But they are not only preparing themselves for their coming field events, for many are conditioning themselves for entrance into the armed services.

Credit must be given to Coach Carmody for his patient work in developing our boys into skilled players, whose records are the envy of many competitors. Under his careful guidance and that of Captain Bill Paulaski, they cannot help but have a successful season.

*First Row—Sullivan, Bushey, Evans, Morrell, Morowski, Boudreau, Brown, Freehoffer, MacHaffie, Papirio
Second Row—Niver, Ginsberg, Ditmar, Gomes, Totaro, Galey, Meledeo, Vacchina
Third Row—Everhart, Hunt, Christianson, Gwinnell, Goodrich, Potter, Skochinsky
Fourth Row—Flynn, Brusighini*

Baseball Team 1943

When the Northern Berkshire Baseball League disbanded for the duration, the problem of forming schedules fell to the coaches. This task Coach Stewart succeeded in performing, but not without difficulty. Many of the teams cannot be reached because of transportation difficulty, and some schools have given up the diamond sport for this season. Therefore, the number of games played this year will be but a fraction of those played in former years.

The call for spring practice brought a large group of hopeful candidates. Although there are only four letter men remaining from the 1942 squad, there are many promising sophomores and juniors who are capable of filling the vacancies. Joe Boudreau, team captain, who has played well both in the field and at the plate; Ben Morowski, fielder and pitcher; George Morrell, catcher; and Bill Freehoffer, third baseman, will be important factors in the success of the team because of their experience.

With a dependable battery, a strong outfield and fair infield, our team shows prospects of developing into an efficient and dangerous combine.

But whether we have a good season or a bad one, we shall have the satisfaction of knowing that our boys have acquired a habit from this popular American pastime, a habit which our opponents from the Orient failed to acquire from the game:—"To be a good winner and a graceful loser."

Sport Stars of 1943 Class

The Purple and White colors have been gallantly defended by the star athletes of 1943.

Dick Anderson scampered across many white lines of the gridiron for P. H. S. Co-captain Fran Fields plunged against enemy barricades for many a substantial gain.

Tom Ricci showed prowess as a trusty end during most P. H. S. grid contests. Captain Norm Bornak led his championship squad in exciting basket ball engagements.

Joe Boudreau held enemy offenders from converting against the P. H. S. court five; Joe was also a great ball-hitter on the diamond.

Bob Marmorek fought next to Boudreau on the hoop quintet, sharing equal honors.

Johnny Evans won recognition as a man plenty offensive with a hockey puck. Tiny Louis Giovanetti was cautiously met with (by the foe) when in hockey battles.

Al Boudreau and Woody Bailey carried out numerous offensives and gave plenty of trouble to enemy defensemen during ice disputes.

Bill Paulaski, a speedy hurdle-sprinter, captained the sprint-team for 1943, of which Ted Oslund, a sturdy vaulter; Ton Ricci, hurdler; and Ted Volsky, a shot-putter, were prominent members.

Hats off to these outstanding fellows that fought the foes of P. H. S. with zest and vigor.

On The Record

Let's take a little stroll back through the pages of history until we reach those triumphant days of 1940-41-42-43 in girls' sports.

We find the Shawn Dancing group going through its routines. Jump—one, two, three—glide—one, two, three. (Ohhhh-) The epitome of rhythmic grace!

Here's bowling—strikes, spares, hits, and (non-hits?) all tend to make this sport a present-day mode! And we can readily understand why "Reduce the hipline" is the girls' motto.

Then we come upon badminton—Every once in a while—we find a twosome that "click." Such is the case with Elvera Gentile and Eleanor Madden, who have won the badminton tournaments for three years! !

Then, here is physical fitness—As a result of the war, we "War Children" have made up our minds to build up our resistance. So—the girls, not to be outdone by the boys, also have gone into commando training. Balancing, hurdling, climbing,—everything is done with a common goal: Build up your strength and defend America—till Victory is ours! !

Front row: Jayne Hearn, Elvera Gentile, and Jean Stanley.

Back row: Phyllis Goodrich, Margaret Maloney, Pauline Volk, Eleanor Eckerson, and Eleanor Madden.

Basketball

1942 - 1943

When only lowly juniors, the above girls captured the basketball title for the future glory of their outstanding and promising class. It was an excellent start and we now look to this year's team which consists of the same girls with one change; Ruth Leahy replacing Jean Stanley to carry on the good work.

Front row: Elaine Sherman, Eleanor Madden, Yvonne Carmel, Elvera Gentile, and Ruth Leahy.

Volleyball

1942 - 1943

The sophomore volleyball team, composed of Elvera Gentile, Eleanor Madden, Helen Cross, Patricia Smith, Alvera Bianchi, Yvonne Carmel, Charlotte Scace, and Anna Mazzacco, won only one game in the 1940 tournament. The next year, however, the team made a more spectacular showing by tying with the able seniors. —The final game was lost by the close margin of one point. This group consisted of Amy Bullett, Elvera Gentile, Eleanor Madden, Elvera Bianchi, Gladys Sykes, Dorothy Mychyn, Eleanor Eckerson, Helen Suhinski, and Yvonne Carmel. As seniors, the volleyball team made a splendid record! Under the direction of Miss McLaughlin, the team won the tournament!

Hockey

1942 - 1943

The cry of, "Bully in the center" is enough to send the Senior hockey team rushing to their positions. This was the first season for a number of years that the girls have had an opportunity to compete in this exciting sport. Naturally the seniors stole both the limelight and the intratitle from the underclassmen, but not without a good deal of competition. Another feather to add to our well-trimmed caps!!

Front row: Ruth Holden, Bette Westover, Yvonne Carmel.
Rear row: Charlotte Scace, Katherine Connors, June Parker, Jane Howard.

Cheerleaders

1942 - 1943

Archery

1942 - 1943

The comparatively new sport of archery found a master in Jayne Hearn. For three successive years, Jayne took first place in the annual archery tournament. Another able bowman, June Ravage, took third place in her junior and senior years. To Jayne Hearn and June Ravage go the laurels for archery.

Somewhere a Boy Has a Rendezvous With Death

SOMEWHERE an American boy has a rendezvous with death tonight.

Whether on a carrier's deck in the Pacific or in the tropical forests of New Guinea—whether swift and perilous, or terrible and slow his going—he is giving to his fellow men the greatest gift a man can give.

The years unlived—the warmth and the laughter and the tears, and—most precious gift of all—his sons that might have been. All these he is giving.

No effort of ours, now, can stay the speeding bullet that has his number on it. What to him, now, are the bonds we buy, or the guns we build?

What gift can we give to match his—what sacrifice can we make? The answer will come from that still small voice within our own hearts.

For no one can tell use how many bonds to buy, how hard to work on the guns and planes and tanks we build, to keep his gallant effort from having been in vain. Yes, we must each decide the measure of our own obligation—the gasoline we do not use, the pints of blood we donate, the food we do without, and all the other appeals we answer—to make the precious gift he made worth while.

Not for the boy who is dying tonight, but because he is dying, we can make our sacrifices to the cause of freedom.

GENERAL  ELECTRIC

MONEY FOR UNCLE SAM!

Your Electric Company sold 40% more kilowatthours of electricity last year than it did in pre-war 1939.

It's net income was 23% LESS in 1942 than in 1939.

More business in 1942 did NOT mean more profits, but it DID mean more money to help win the war... via taxes.

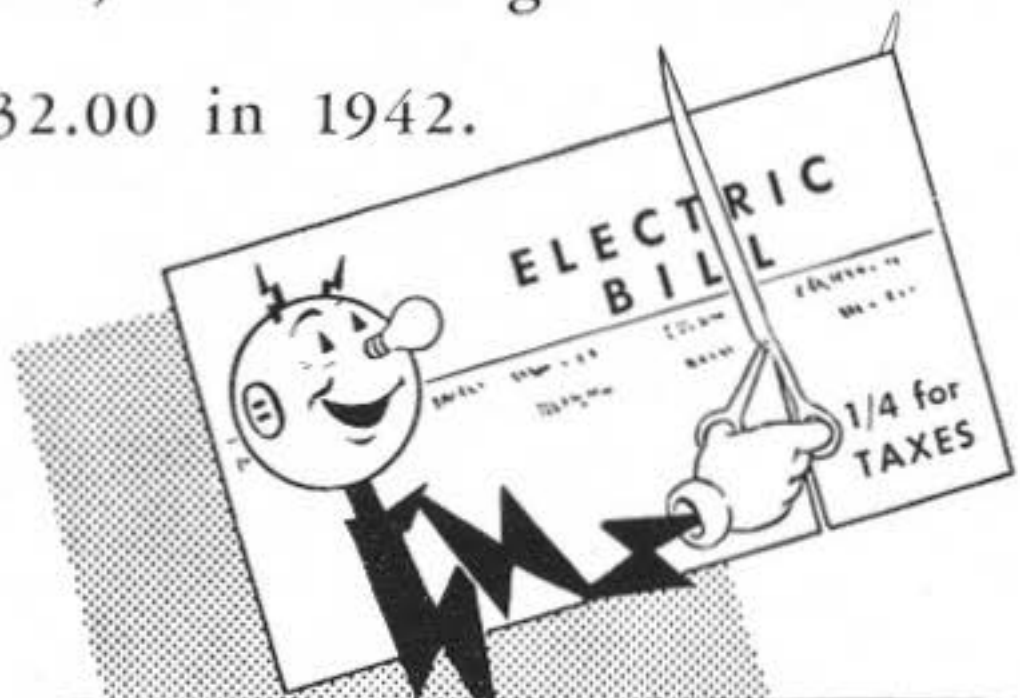

Just to give you an idea of the "tax-generating power"  of this private enterprise...

... about one-fourth of your total 1942 payments to us for electricity was passed on, in taxes to the federal, state, and local governments

... a total of $2,825,932.00 in 1942.

THE ELECTRIC SERVICE INDUSTRY OF THE WHOLE COUNTRY IS:

1. Providing an adequate supply of electric power for war factory and home.
2. Holding electric rates down to pre-war levels.
3. Helping to pay the cost of the war through taxes $620,000,000 in 1942

Western Massachusetts Electric Company

Remember Bunker Hill, too!

In all of our wars, strong and healthy school students have played a vital part in our victories by doing their duty on the home front. You of Pittsfield High deserve the highest praise for your work in the Salvage campaigns. All the citizens of this city will again be proud of you if you will do as good a job in the Victory Garden drive. Food keeps our armies and factory workers on the move so do your part by helping them to get that food.

Our sincere congratulations to the members of the graduating class and we trust that you will continue to enjoy this newspaper the rest of your lives. Your studies are now ended, but current events will be with you always so read The Eagle to keep pace with life.
