ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The Board of Editors of the Tick Tock of 1944 wishes to express to Mrs. Thomas F. Plunkett of Pittsfield; Miss Fannie G. Clark, Historical Librarian of the Berkshire Athenaeum; Mrs. Philip Wiggenghauser, our school librarian; and Mr. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Dana of Cambridge, a grandson of the poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, its sincere appreciation of their invaluable assistance in preparing the "Yesterday" section of this book. Without their kind and generous cooperation it would have been impossible for the editors to obtain the photographs which make this section of special interest.

The cover design, made by The Eagle Engraving Company, depicts the original "old clock on the stair." It is a copy of a photograph which was made available through the courtesy of Mr. Dana.

Foreword

THE THEME of this book, "Yesterday and Today," was inspired by the inscriptions on the bronze panels which mark the walls of the lobby of our school. One of these panels reads as follows:

"Here stood the 'Old-Fashioned Country Seat' and in its hall 'the Old Clock on the Stair.'" The other panel is inscribed: "Erected by the City of Pittsfield that her youth may here acquire the knowledge that makes for a larger life."

It is our hope that the material between the covers of this book will not only recall the many activities of our busy, happy school days, but will also suggest some of the beauty and charm of life in the Pittsfield of a century ago.

Yesterday

BEFORE the erection of the present Pittsfield High School building, there stood on this site one of those spacious old mansions that so well embodied the charm and gracious hospitality of early New England living. The house was "Pine Knoll", the home of the Honorable Thomas Gold, a distinguished lawyer and leading citizen of Pittsfield in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries.

To "Pine Knoll" in the summer of 1843 came the poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow with his young bride, Frances Elizabeth Appleton, who was a granddaughter of Mr. Gold. The mansion then stood in the midst of sloping green lawns and was surrounded by beautiful buttonwood and poplar trees. Through the entire ground story of the house from north to south ran a wide hall, while on the broad landing of the stairs passing from this hall up into the second story stood the tall, old-fashioned clock which the poet immortalized in the well-loved poem "The Old Clock on the Stair."

The Old Clock on the Stairs

Somewhat back from the village street
Stands the old-fashioned country seat.
Across its antique porticoe
Tall poplar trees their shadows throw;
And from its station in the hall
An ancient timepiece says to all,
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

Henry W Longfellow

Half way up the stairs it stands
 And points and beckons with its hands
 From its case of massive oak
 Like a monk, who, under his cloak
 Crosses himself and sighs, alas!
 With sorrowful voice to all who pass,—
 "Forever—never!
 Never—forever!"

By day its voice is low and light;
 But in the silent dead of night,
 Distinct as a passing footstep's fall,
 It echoes along the vacant hall,
 Along the ceiling, along the floor,
 And seems to say, at each chamber door,—
 "Forever—never!
 Never—forever!"

Courtesy of Mrs. Thomas F. Plunkett

In that mansion used to be
 Free-hearted hospitality
 His great fires up the chimney roared
 The stranger feasted at his board.
 But, like the skeleton at the feast,
 That warning time piece never ceased,—
 Never—forever!”

From her chamber robed in white
The bride came forth on her wedding night.

* * * * *

And in the hush that followed the prayer,
Was heard the old clock on the stair,—

Never—forever!”

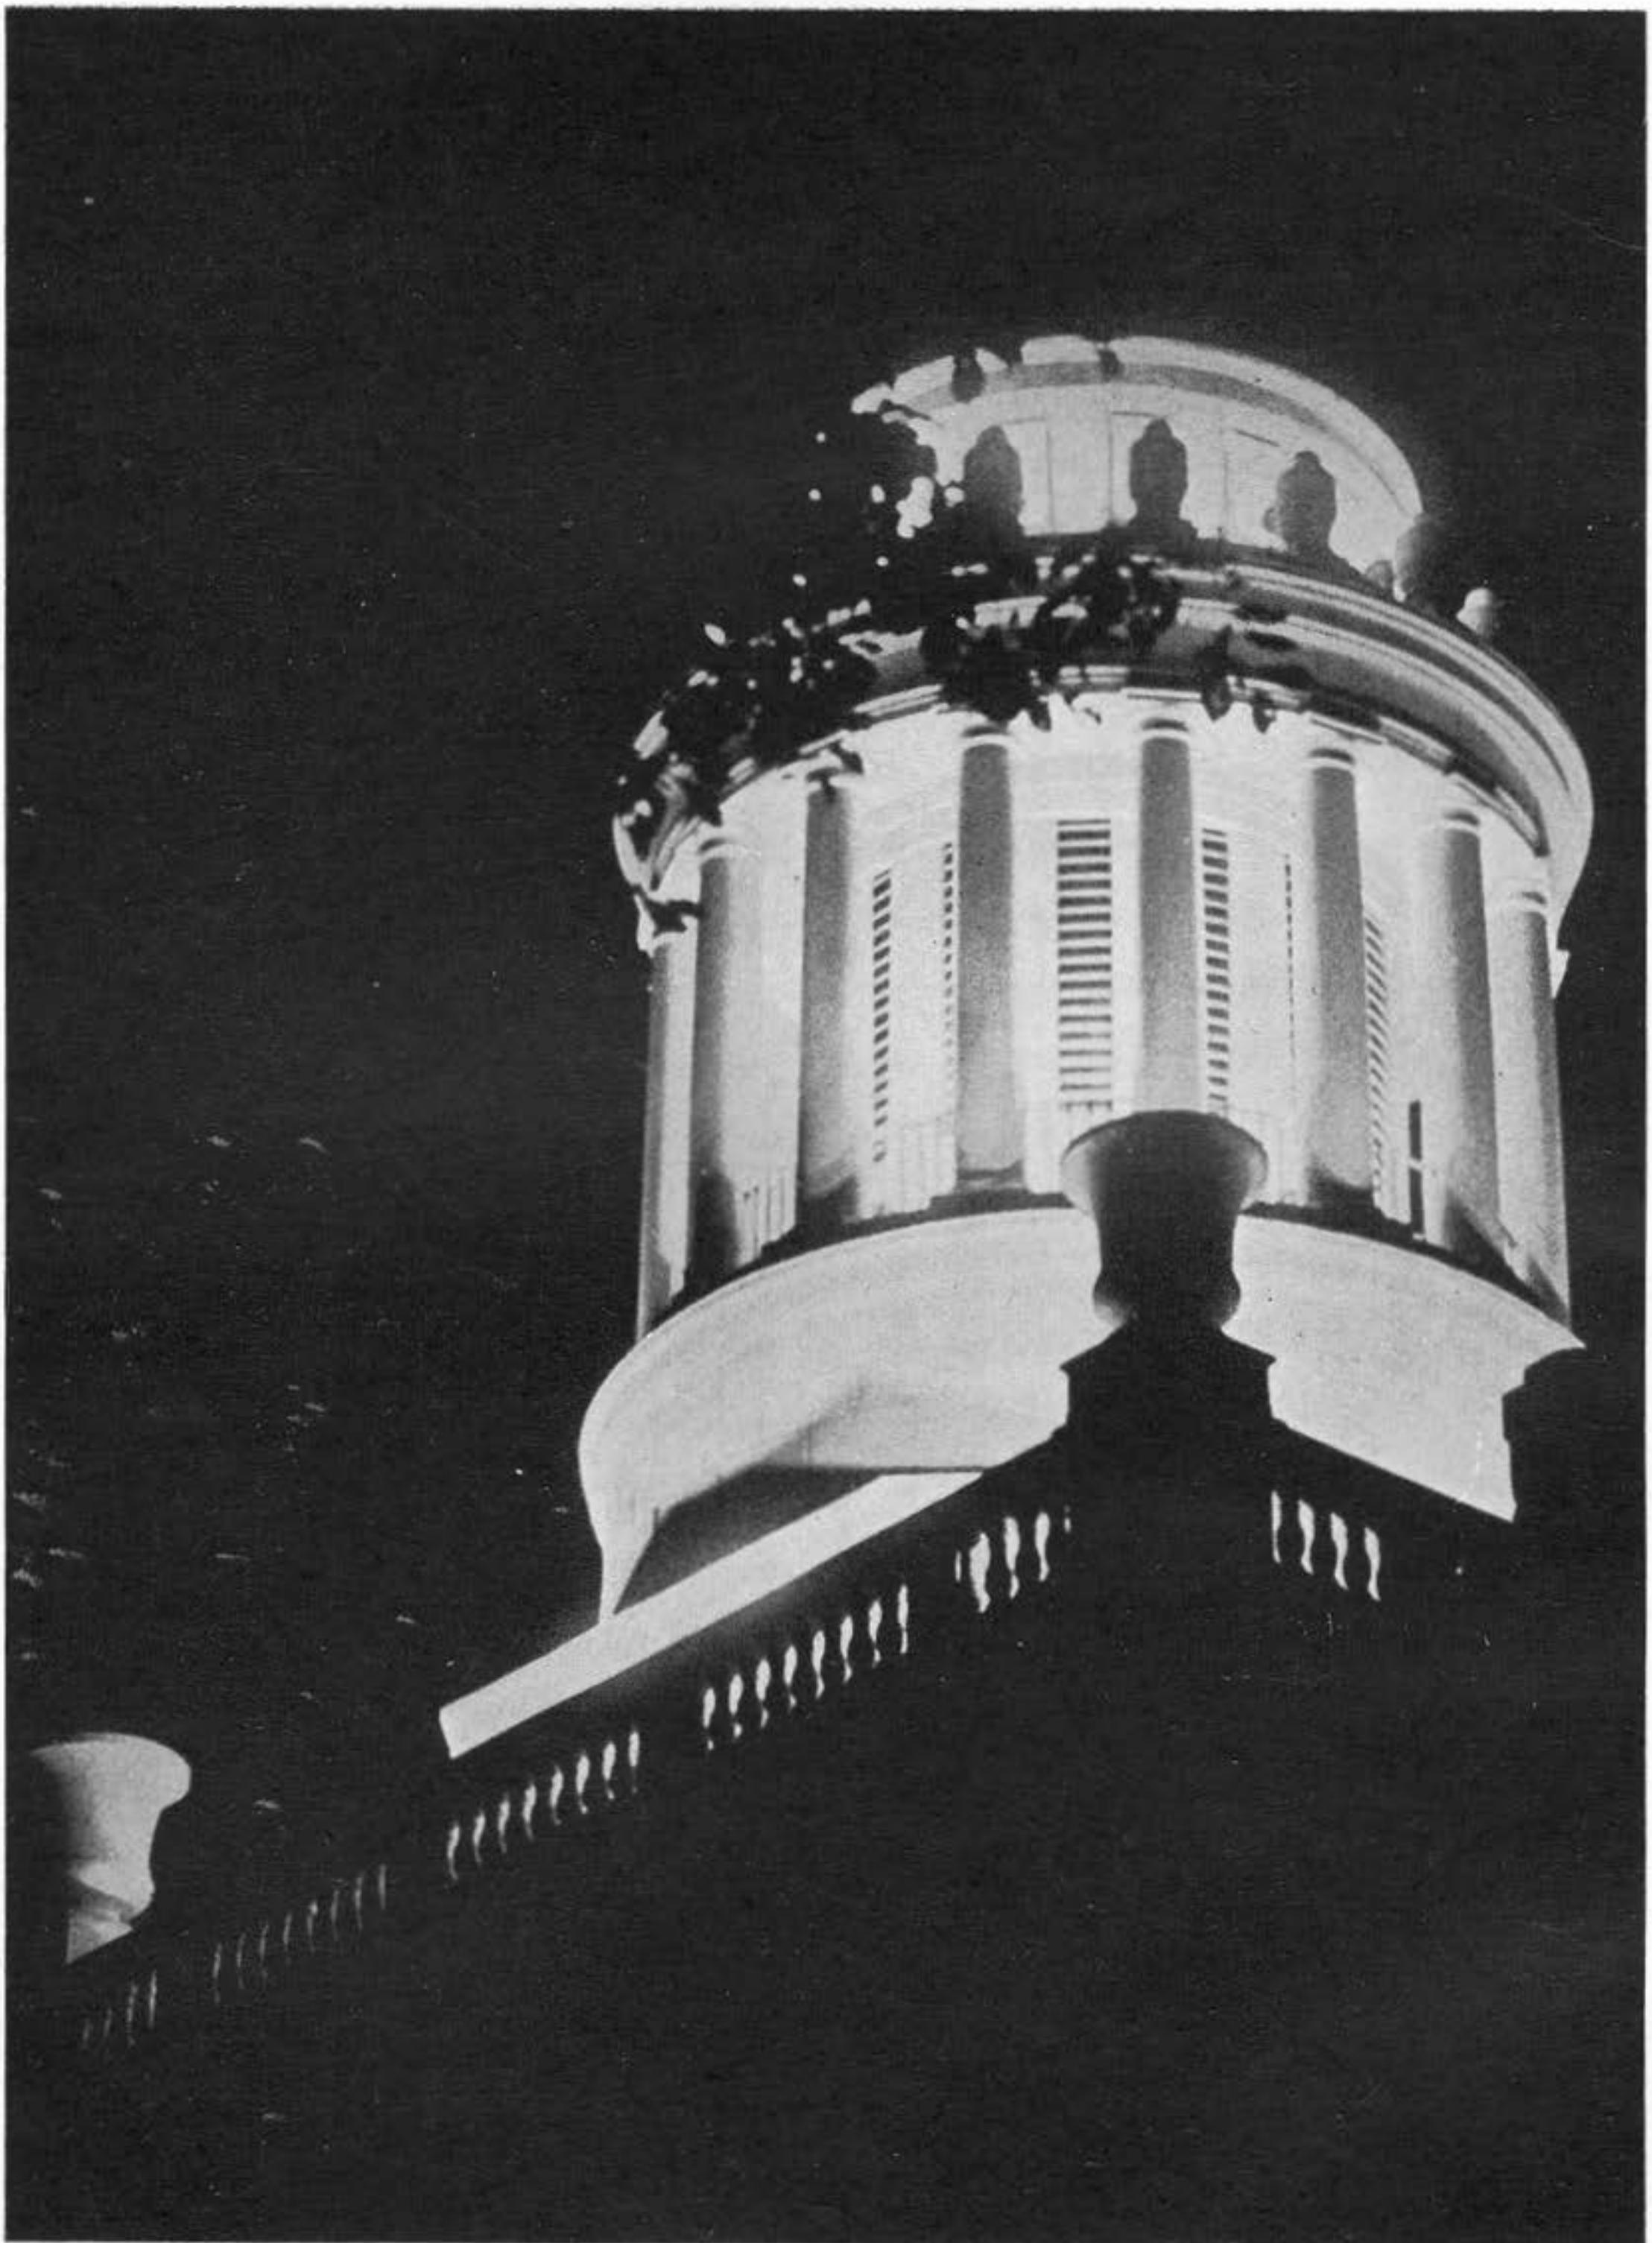

There groups of merry children played,
There youths and maidens dreaming strayed;
O precious hours! O golden prime,
And affluence of love and time!
Even as a miser counts his gold,
Those hours the ancient timepiece told,—

Never—forever!”

Our Neighbors to the South

Picturesque Paraguay

(Maplewood Prize Essay)

Written by Lois Youngs

THE remote and romantic republic of Paraguay is one of the strangest and most interesting on the continent of South America. It is a country of gay flowers and luxuriant tropical forests, of beautiful birds and queer beasts. It is the country where time is but a word; where work means little or nothing; and where all the people, men and women alike, indulge in big, black cigars and sip yerba maté through silver tubes from small, gaily decorated vegetable gourds. It is to this unfamiliar land that we turn now—a land which has been scarcely touched by any of our dealings with Latin American countries and which has been left almost completely out of the picture in talk of present and postwar problems.

It is not strange that Paraguay attracts our interest, for it possesses a history which has made it fantastically unique. For many years it suffered under the heel of Spanish tyranny, and after it finally gained its independence, it soon met even greater disaster in the despotic rule of three military dictators and in the sweeping devastation of one tragic war. It was the last of this trio who led the Paraguayans into a violent war against Argentina, Brazil, and Uruguay, in which almost half of the population of Paraguay perished. The tiny republic has never recovered from the horrors of this war, and the people still discuss it in vivid detail.

Paraguay is one of two states of South America which are completely land-locked—a handicap which has been somewhat overcome by the use of the Paraguay and Paraná Rivers. The country itself covers an area of about sixty-five thousand square miles; however it also claims, in conflict with Bolivia, more than one hundred thousand square miles of a vast plain to the northwest known as "El Gran Chaco" which is valuable for its rich grazing land and flourishing forests. Most of Paraguay is covered with fertile hills and valleys, with deep, thick forests, and with groves of palm, orange, and banana trees.

Paraguay's industries, for the most part, depend upon its soil and the products of the land. Of greatest importance is the cultivation of yerba maté or Paraguay tea, the favorite beverage of South America. This product amounts to about ten per cent of the total exports from Paraguay. The leading commercial crop of Paraguay is tobacco, which grows luxuriantly in the rich, sandy soil in the west and, except for cotton, covers more acreage than the combined total for all other crops. Also important is the raising of cattle which supply hides and meat for home use and for export. In the abundant quebracho forests of Paraguay is found our best source of tannin, the most important forest product.

The population of Paraguay is smaller than that of any other South American state. The people are descended from the tribe of the Guarani Indians who dominated the Spaniards in the sixteenth century and exerted an influence over the people of Paraguay which exists strikingly in that country today. Most of the people speak Guarani in preference to Spanish, and all carry the unmistakable traits of the Guarani descent. They are an easy-going and light-hearted people, but when aroused, they become aggressively persistent and wildly violent. The poverty they live in is appalling, but because the land generously yields so many fruitful crops, the people are not starving as are those in the high mountainous regions of other South American states.

For a view of the people of Paraguay in their own picturesque environment let us look briefly at Asuncion, Paraguay's capital city. It lies along the banks of the Paraguay River comparatively untouched by the changing world around it and still retaining its charming Old World atmosphere. At first glance it presents a very pleasant picture—red-faced cliffs rising sharply from the water, crowned by the flat roofs of many low-lying, old-fashioned buildings; splashes of gaily colored flowers and trees painted against the broad green expanse of pasture land and the wild profusion of twining tangled forests. Inside the city itself the only signs of modern civilization are a few automobiles, which look strangely out of place beside heavily laden pack-mules and women riding donkeys to or from the market. This market is the center of all activity in Asuncion. It is to this place that the Paraguayans come to sell their wares, to purchase whatever their practically worthless money will buy, or to huddle about in groups and bring to life again the terrible war which took the lives of so many of their people. Barefoot vendors sit placidly on the ground surrounded on all sides by their endless variety of merchandise. This stream of life is typical of the peculiar ways and the delightful atmosphere which are Paraguay.

But Paraguay is not all primitive and backward. The people are quaint, but they are not without ambitions; the country is in many places wild and uncivilized, but it is not without a vast supply of many of nature's treasures. That these ambitions are to be realized, that these treasures are to be vital resources of the industrial world, are facts which present a challenge to the ingenuity and far-sightedness of the people of our country. With the safer and speedier methods of transportation that are every day being developed, it is not difficult to visualize the physical bond of unity which will connect us with this strange land, but it is not so easy to picture that tie which will form a spirit of honest good-will and co-operation between us and this country which is now so isolated from world affairs. However, if we show to the Paraguayans our desire to promote friendliness and co-operation and put away all thoughts of exploitation, we shall have formed the biggest link in that bond of unity which will be beneficial to both.

To Miss Morse—A cross look that doesn't look sweet.
To Miss Davison—A skeleton named "Chubby".
To The Misses Carmel—A bicycle built for two.
To Miss F. Murphy—A list of terms like "dear, darling, honey" to call her pupils.
To Miss Willis—The unteaching of the statement, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach-pump."
To Mr. Hennessy—A box office for selling tickets outside Room 307.
To Miss Madden—Either plastic milk bottles or padded floors.
To Mr. Herrick—Our thanks, our love, and a talc that a blush won't show through.
To Mr. Geary—A bombsight for those erasers he tosses.
To Mrs. Wiggenhauser—A special chute connecting the library with the study halls in case pupils are caught doing the unmentionable—homework!
To Mr. McMahon—A job teaching young men to smile as shyly and boyishly as he does. He gets too many of our girls with it, anyway.
To Miss Allen—A retail sales course for boys.
To Mr. Curtin—The eye for beauty, the depth, and the fine taste in texture and balance of Rube Goldberg.
To Miss Millet—Good old Paris in the spring—sans le Boche!
To Miss McCormick—A date with Willie Shakespeare.
To Mr. Joyce—Don Wilson's job on Jack's Benny's program.
To The Junior Class—A large, economy size bottle of aspirin with which to counteract Miss Kaliher's EASY tests.
To The Sophomores—Oh dear! They need so much!
To All the Boys in P. H. S.—Girls!
To All the Girls in P. H. S.—Boys (and nylons)!
To The Janitors—A three year subscription to "House Beautiful".

Thus may the wealth of our treasury, tangible and intangible, be distributed and disposed of.

The Pendulum, Hands, and the 456 ticks, tocks, and cuckoos.

Class Will

LET it be made known that we, who have come to our last hours in P. H. S., in order to distribute properly our riches among our associates, do designate this as our last will and testament and do give, devise, and bequeath the following:

To Mr. Strout—Time, time, time, time, and to fill up all that time, a great big hunk of leisure.

To Miss Parker—An autographed picture of Frank Sinatra.

To Mr. Moran—A tunnel between the machine shop and his office.

To Mr. Goodwin—More patience and fewer patients for tardy slips after 8:45 A. M.

To Miss Pfeiffer—A Brooklyn accent.

To Mr. Leahy—An Orphan Annie de-coder badge for his classes in code.

To Mr. Kriger—Seven more income taxes a year and an icebag.

To Mr. Innis—A chalk-proof suit.

To Miss Kaliher—A large economy-size bottle of aspirin with which to counteract the effects of the Junior Class.

To Miss Nugent—A couple of full-time assistants.

To Miss Corcoran—Excuses that speak for themselves, thus saving her the trouble of listening to the pupils.

To Mr. Carmody—Fewer mental cases out for the football team.

To Mr. Stewart—A Western Massachusetts championship in tick-tack-too.

To Mr. Monks—A number 3-A erector set.

To Mr. Gorman—A Count Basie boogie-woogie book.

To Mr. Herberg—A mural for Room 105 depicting himself as St. George, slaying the dragon, Chenfeld, with the aid of Drooperman (the rest of P. H. S.).

To Miss Daly—Automatic blackboard erasers that go to work at the end of every period. She'd find much less homework done.

To Miss Hodges—A scooter with which to get around the study hall.

To Mr. Sheridan—A class of boys.

To Miss Morris—A book of jive talk.

To Mr. Carey—Vitalis.

To Mr. Ryan—A megaphone, public address system, or something!

To Mr. McGovern—The personal attention of Charles Atlas.

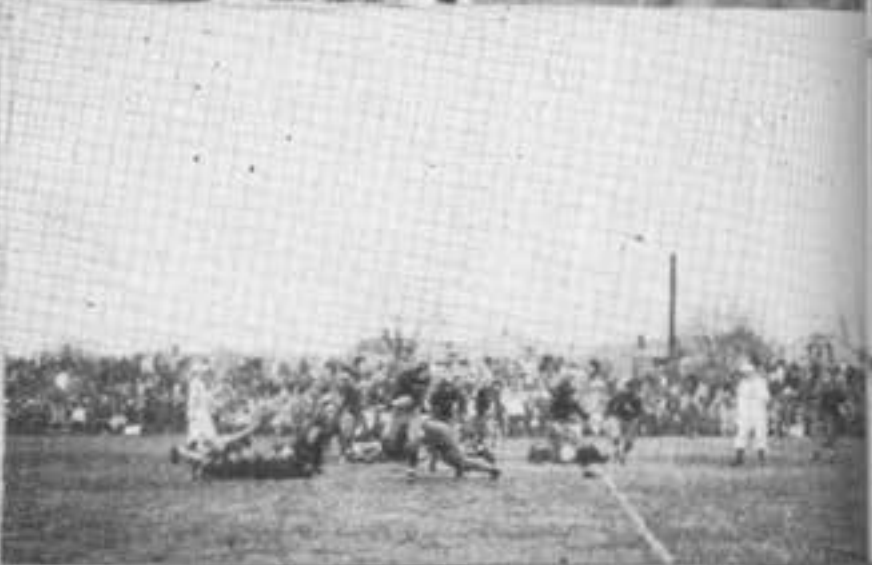

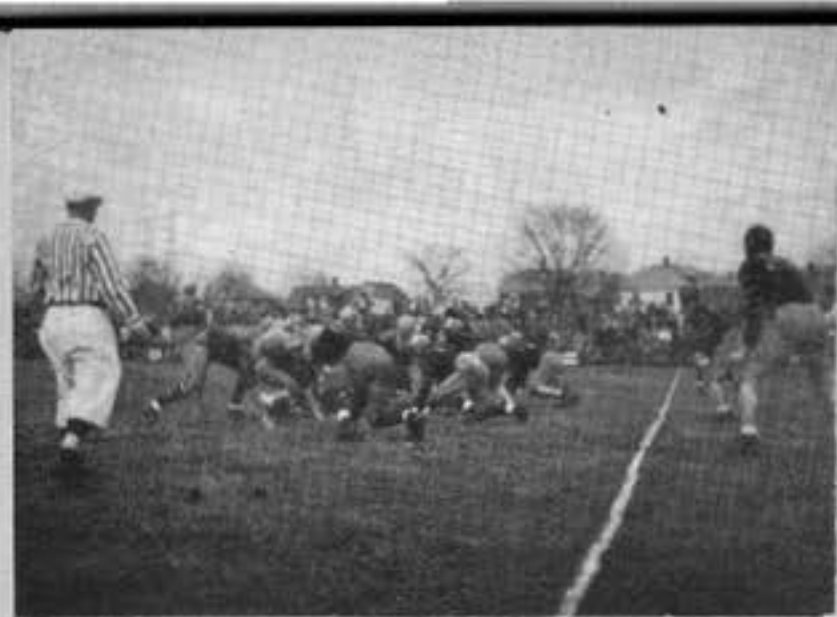

To Mrs. Coons—Nothing. She got what she wanted in February—a man!

To Miss Rhoades—A device by which to distinguish her from a pupil.

To Miss Conlon—A Gallia that isn't divided into tres partes.

To Miss Baker—A class absolutely sure where the continent of North America may be found.

Class History

THE story of man has been recorded for ages by men—great men—who have striven, in their chronicles, to show how the cultural attainments of Homo Sapiens were developed. Scholars labored long and tediously over their compilations: the fables, songs, picture-words of their less literate fellowmen. Now we, in a style new—and entirely uncalled for—bring forth in this volume a history guaranteed to rank with those of Herodotus and Charles Austin Beard. As a model for future historians, and as a reminder of the blithe days of our youth, we, the historians of today, present the following data on the comedy of errors of the Class of 1944, Pittsfield High School.

1941

- Sept. 4—We're grown-ups now. We're in high school.
- Sept. 5—Hmm, maybe we're not so big.
- Sept. 28—Decidedly we're not so big.
- Oct. 12—Nice fellow, Columbus. Wonder what he ever did though!
- Nov. 8—Pari-mutuel betting commences in cafeteria in preparation for game with St. Joe.
- Nov. 11—Our first St. Joe game. We won naturally!
- Dec. 7—The Japs attacked Pearl Harbor.
- Dec. 8—We'll get the &'%. # $* meanies!
- Dec. 15—Pupils start behaving in preparation for Christmas.
- Dec. 21—Several of us break under the strain of being good.
- Dec. 25—He was fairly good to us. Nice boy, Santa.

1942

- Jan. 10—Pupils still recovering from Christmas vacation.
- Feb. 8—P. H. S. outfights St. Joe in basketball.
- Feb. 25—Mr. Leahy is praying.
- Feb. 26—Mr. Leahy is praying.
- Feb. 27—Still praying—
- Feb. 28—Mr. Leahy's team came in on a ski and a prayer to beat Deerfield at skiing.
- Mar. 27—Oh, let us hide our faces in shame! In basketball, Faculty 27—Pupils 22.
- April 20—War Bond drive starts. Today many pockets were seen wandering through the halls devoid of dimes.
- April 23—Today nothing happened.
- May 15—Our first Junior Prom.
- May 18—A movement is under way to install alarm clocks in all rooms unless the students start opening their eyes. That Prom was terrific!
- June 1—"And what is so rare as a day in June?" How should we know?! We're only Sophs!
- June 2—Zero hour in sight.
- June 4—It's close!
- June 10—Still coming closer!
- June 19—It's here, and we're Juniors! Anyway most of us.

1942

* * * * *

- Sept. 9—Back to school again! Oh well, all play and no work makes Jerk a dull boy.
- Sept. 9—We have an air raid drill. Not a bomb dropped!
- Sept. 24—The third lunch is very messy! Well, gee, it wouldn't be if they had waiters as they do at the "Berkshire".
- Oct. 5—Chief Sullivan delivers a speech on discipline.
- Oct. 12—Columbus has his day. We share it with him.

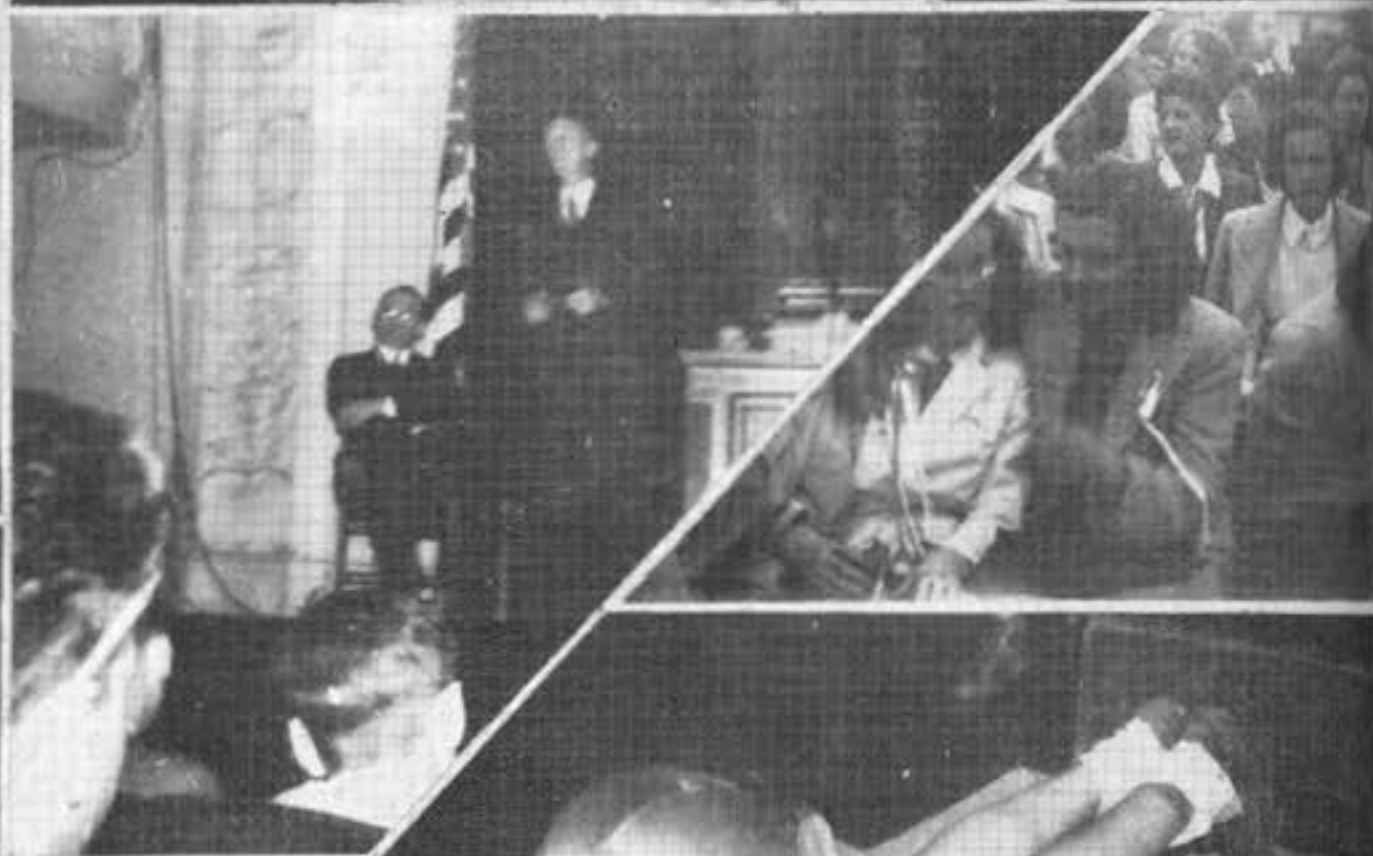

- Oct. 25—A Library Club is inaugurated. Its object, we suppose, is to increase the percentage of circulation of all books (except comics) and to make illiteracy in P. H. S. less conspicuous by telling sophs which is the top and which is the bottom of the book.
- Oct. 27—No school. Rationing.
- Oct. 29—And again no school. Oh, blessing upon thee OPA that gives us food and takes school away.
- Nov. 2—Stanley Johnston tells us about The Coral Sea Battle.
- Nov. 3—Election Day. What is this? A school or a health resort.
- Nov. 11—Armistice Day.
- Nov. 17—Today, there is school.
- Nov. 26—Turkey is gobbled.
- Nov. 27—So is alka-seltzer.
- Nov. 30—We hold our primary elections.
- Dec. 3—The finals, John Formel is elected our President.
- Dec. 10—Our Class Council is made public.
- Dec. 17—Christmas Carol sing. We look like angels and sound like—they too.
- Dec. 25—Christmas comes but once a year. Thank Heaven! We'd be broke if it came any oftener.

1943

- Jan. 7—Rationing has come to the halls of P.H.S. Only five cents worth of candy per pupil.
- Jan. 8—And on top of that, deficiencies!
- Jan. 14—No yellow slips will be allowed in the library from now on. Please wear —er bring your white ones.
- Jan. 20—Isabel Scott is chairman of the Good Will Committee. Eighteen boys are suddenly taken ill. Issie's busy.
- Jan. 22—Girls and boys are peeling today in the cafeteria. Free tangerines.
- Jan. 27—Quick Henry, the periscope! Math departmentals.
- Feb. 3—Ken Dallmeyer is elected Chairman of the Ring Committee.
- Feb. 14—Salvage Sunday. Have you any liniment?
- Feb. 18—John Formel, our President, leaves us in favor of the Navy.
- Feb. 19—Broken piggy banks clutter the halls of the school. Class dues, twenty-five cents.
- Mar. 12—The pictures of the Victory Corps are taken.
- Mar. 17—We beat Lee in the basketball playoff, 39 to 21.
- Mar. 30—Joseph Solak is chairman of the Junior Prom.
- April 1—Our girls win the bowling tournament. We're proud of you, girls.
- April 12—Our first ring order.
- April 29—"The Yeoman of the Guard" is wonderful!
- April 30—It's simply marvelous!
- May 1—The Prom is nearing. Excitement rises.
- May 8—Excitement is still rising.
- May 10—Bob Boland wins the Prom poster contest.
- May 13—We cut a hole in the ceiling to allow for our high enthusiasm.
- May 14—At last the Prom. What a swell night!
- May 24—All bills at the cafeteria must be paid. Hmph, the misers!
- June 2—We see Popeye! The girls will, from now on, be more careful about chasing sailors who look cute from the rear.
- June 4—Oh, those lucky Seniors! They look like purple ghosts in their caps and gowns.
- June 18—Hallelujah! No more school! And we're Seniors! Big Shots! Bosses!

- Sept. 7—Well, there's one consolation in returning to our three year sentence here. We're on our last lap—Seniors!
- Sept. 8—Sophs stare at us and say, through the thumbs in their mouths, "Gee, they're the wunnerfullest, biggest things!"
- Sept. 15—Our class is organized.
- Sept. 21—Everyone walks along the halls humming. (They've joined Mr. Gorman's music club).
- Sept. 22—Senior girls prepare themselves for future homemaking in the Home Nursing Classes, as boys wonder why they can't have something like that.
- Sept. 29—Big day! We're the first school in the state to use voting machines. We used 'em in our primaries. Books and Authors War Bond Rally today, too. We're busy little bees.
- Oct. 4—Again we use the voting machines as Bill Troy is elected President. Congratulations, Mr. President!
- Oct. 8—"The Gondoliers" gets under way with Dick Carpenter as general chairman.
- Oct. 15—It has been learned from generally reliable sources that Mr. Gorman did not write "Pistol Packin' Mama".
- Oct. 18—Drooperman spends the day rescuing Sophs from the puddles around the newly installed water fountains.
- Nov. 11—P. H. S. tramples St. Joe at our last game with them. Gad, we're tough!
- Nov. 18—Today it was discovered that only seventy-six sophomore girls have a crush on Rodney Brown. The rest like Sinatra.
- Dec. 6—The student body is asked to bring decorations for the Senior's Christmas Tree.
- Dec. 9—Roy Walchenbach is named chairman of the Cap and Gown Committee.
- Dec. 15—Miss Riley has asked us not to go to her room, 49, to get our clothes mended during her sewing classes unless an emergency arises. Ye gads! If an emergency arose, she would have to come to us.
- Dec. 16—Many stockings with holes in them, in school today.
- Dec. 17—And today many holes were worn, some having a shred of stocking in them. Miss Riley, don't you know stockings are hard to get?
- Dec. 20—Oooh! Aaah! Gee! Look at the beautiful Christmas Tree! Many things were suggested for hanging on its piny boughs—including several teachers!

1944

- Jan. 13—To our astonishment, we find that we own a thirty-six inch waist line. Cap and gown measurement, you know.
- Jan. 15—Hurrah! "The Oasis" opens its doors. Finally there is a place, other than the movies, to which our parents can tell us to go.
- Jan. 24—City government tests. Who is dog catcher, James Fallon or James McNiece?
- Jan. 25—$16,485.35 is raised in the first week of our Bond Drive, and we didn't even pick any pockets to do it.
- Jan. 26—"Helen Beauchemin is Pittsfield High's Good Citizen," say the D.A.R. So say we, too!
- Jan. 31—The War Bond Show. Phew! Miss America!! Charles Bickford!! Gad!!!
- Feb. 7—Several boys have now recovered completely from the heart attack they suffered on seeing Miss America.
- Feb. 8—A reliable doctor has informed us that all the boys will pull through, though many appear not to want to.
- Feb. 12—Birthday of Lincoln, the great Emancipator, and we don't get even one little extra hour of liberty. We'd issue our own Emancipation Proclamation if we were sure of the spelling!

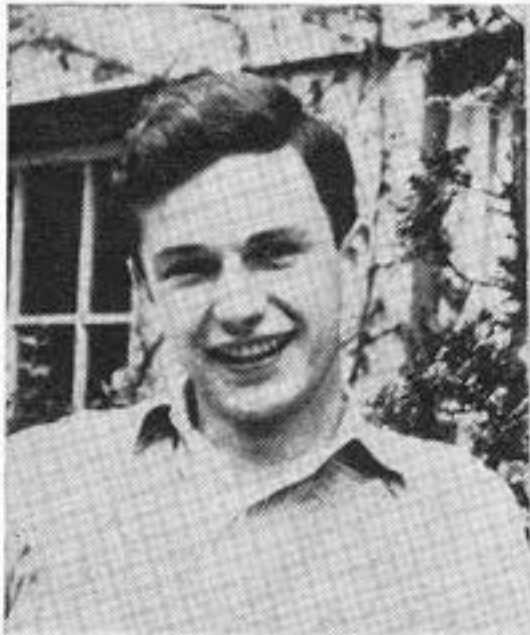

- Feb. 14—This week the jolly, jolly news is, there is to be no winter vacation.
           O bless Mr. Russell and bless Mr. Strout!
           Comes time for a vacation and they won't let us out!
- Feb. 17—First night of "The Gondoliers"! 'Tis stupendous! Colossal! Marvelous! It is,
           I might add, quite good.
- Feb. 18—And it's even better tonight. Congratulations to Mr. Gorman and the cast for giving the best operetta yet!
- Feb. 22—Well, Washington did it! No school today!
- Feb. 25—A special booth for milk is set up. One can actually finish eating in the allotted time now.
- Mar. 8—Bill Christensen is Class Day Chairman, and Agnes Eulian is in charge of the Class Banquet.
- Mar. 20—First day of spring! All the young men's fancies have accordingly turned, and the young women's have, as is only polite, revolved to face the aforementioned masculine fancies.
- Mar. 22—P. H. S. has its first student assembly. Jeepers, but we sing loud!
- Mar. 23—Student's Pen wins Columbia award for third year in succession.
- Mar. 24—We vote on the color of the girls' caps and gowns. We decide on white.
- Mar. 31—Orchestra concert. Tell me, what has Koussevitsky got on Mr. Gorman?
           What has the Boston Symphony got on our orchestra? Oh!!
- April 1—No school today (it's Saturday). 1421 students today were April-fooled into looking to see if their shoes were tied.
- April 3—The F.B.I., upon investigation, found no truth in the rumor that Miss Pfeiffer wrote the words to "Mairzy Doats".
- April 12—The Junior Prom is only one month away!
- April 14—We get a whole week's vacation! Let's all drink a round (of coke) to spring!
           Let's not. Report cards.
- April 24—Oh joy! Back to school again! Our skins are a little tanner, if not from the healthy, rugged outdoor life last week permitted, from the results of our report cards.
- April 28—Two weeks 'til Prom night. Evening gowns are being fitted, and white jackets and tux pants altered. You know, proms are certainly tough on parents.
- May 1—May Day. Hmm, can't think of a joke about this for the life of me.
- May 5—The suspense is terrible. A whole week until the Junior Prom and Randy Blanchard's orchestra.
- May 9—"Have you got a ride to the Prom?" "No, want me to go in your car?" "No,
           I was wondering if I could get in with you."
- May 11—One month 'til graduation.
- May 12—At last! It's here—honestly! The Prom! What a night!! Exquisite! Was my date solid! Thanks, Juniors, for the finest dance we ever attended.
- May 15—One fellow walked up to me, twisted my nose twice to the left, once to the right, opened my mouth, looked surprised, and said, "Oh, pardon, thought you were my locker." The Prom has us all that way, I guess.
- May 24—Classes are getting fewer. If it were only like this all year.
- May 30—Decoration Day.
- June 2—Band concert tonight.
- June 6—Class Day. This is great! Thanks, Bill Christensen and committee, for a grand day.
- June 7—And today is Banquet Day. O, that my belt weren't so tight!
- June 11—Graduation Day!!! Well, we're through. Thanks, P. H. S. and faculty for all you've done for us, and good luck, everyone!

Pittsfield High Alma Mater

Tune: "All Through The Night"

Guardian elm trees cast their shadows
O'er thy ivied walls;
Sons and daughters ever loyal
Throng thy honored halls.
Pittsfield High School, Pittsfield High School,
Alma Mater dear,
Help us to preserve thy honor
Through each coming year.

Great has been thy former record,
Greater will it be,
As the future generations
Sing their praise to thee.
Proud are we who through thy portals
Into life do pass;
Help us ever to be worthy,
Each and every class.

The Gondoliers

“COLORFUL” is the best adjective to describe “The Gondoliers”—the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta presented in the High School auditorium on the evenings of February 17 and 18, 1944, under the direction of Mr. F. Carl Gorman, and the sponsorship of the Senior Class.

All the members of the cast acquitted themselves well, but special commendation for outstanding performance must go to the seniors: Florence Gomes as Tessa; Christine Martin as Guilia; Douglas Butler as Luiz; and Richard Carpenter and David Coleman as the bewildered and love-sick Gondolieri.

The music of “The Gondoliers” is colorful. Its rhythmic, lilting tunes make the heart beat and the feet tap just a wee bit faster than usual.

The beautiful scenery, gay costumes, and lively dancing transformed the stage into a panorama of old Venice. The country maidens, binding red and white roses into huge garlands, the gondola, which—believe it or not—floated gracefully on to the stage, manned by the two gondoliers, the brilliant costumes of cast and chorus, these were but a few of the attractions that thrilled two large audiences.

The dancing was superb. The famous Cachuca, with its gay Spanish rhythm was the outstanding dance of the operetta. The swirling, gay-colored skirts caught the eye in their happy motion as the dancers, Rose Salzarulo and Michael Spring, swayed and pirouetted in time with the lilting tunes.

Altogether, the nights of February 17 and 18 were gala occasions, and the Senior Class was greatly pleased with the enthusiastic reception which the public gave to “The Gondoliers.”

CHECKER FLORENCE GOMES

The Voting Machine

THE Class of 1944 Senior elections held on October 4, 1943, were unusual in at least one respect. The class used voting machines. These machines are owned by the City of Pittsfield and were used through the co-operation of Pittsfield's City Clerk, Mr. John Fitzgerald, and Mr. Claude Tuckey, a government man.

Pittsfield High School is the first high school in Massachusetts to use these machines in class elections, although they have been used in schools in other states.

The regular procedure of city elections was followed in the senior class elections.

There were ballot clerks who took the attendance when the seniors went to vote.

Names were checked from a voters list, and the voter was given a permit which allowed him to vote. This permit was handed to a person in front of the voting machines and the voter then stepped inside the curtains to vote.

At the bottom of the machine there is a master switch with a red knob on it. This switch is turned to the right closing the curtains and the voting begins. The names of the candidates for the various offices were arranged in rows with levers above the names. The voter pressed down the lever above the name of the candidate for whom he wished to vote, then turned the master switch to the left, thus registering his vote.

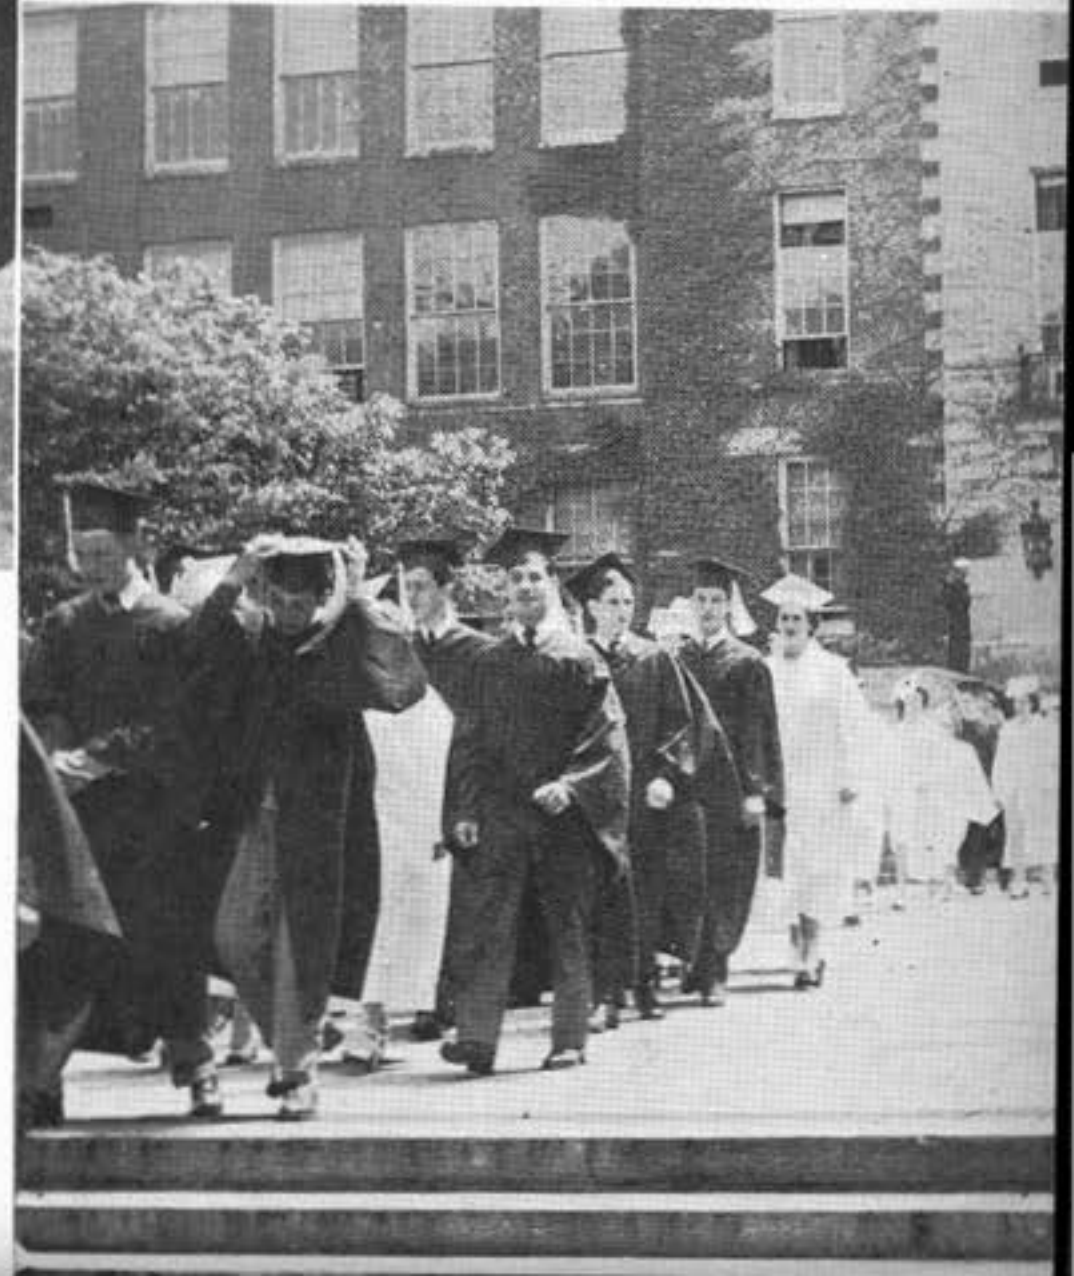

The officers elected were:

President, William Troy; First Vice President, Helen Beauchemin; Second Vice President, James Garivaltis; Secretary, Anne Fairfield; Treasurer, Jane Granfield.

Were We Thrilled!

AS Juniors we had our first big event, our very own Junior Prom, which took place May 14, 1943. Thrilled? You bet we were! We tried to look very scholarly and grown-up as we promenaded along with our fair damsels by our sides. We felt quite stately in our semi-formal attire. Dan Barzie's Orchestra, one of the most popular student dance bands ever organized, provided the music.

The master mind of the dance was Joseph Solak, general chairman. He was assisted by the following: Programs, Helen Hill; Tickets, Peter Soldato; House, George Delaney; Invitations, Jean Spiriti; Publicity, William Troy; Reception, Betty Broderick; Decorations, Robert Boland.

Class Day, June 6, 1944

CLASS DAY! a day never to be forgotten, for it coincided with D-Day, with the armed forces of the United Nations invading the continent of Europe. Our exercises, originally planned in a spirit of lightheartedness, were given a serious tone by the momentous happenings of the early morning. Led by our class president, William Troy, we bowed our heads in silent prayer that God would protect and bless our troops and that a just victory would soon be ours.

Dedicated to the members of the Class of 1944 who are already serving in the armed forces, the Class Day program had as a background a huge map of the world, which by electrical control was illuminated to show all the parts of the globe where the boys of '44 are stationed. On a fictitious circum-global telephone the boys were called by proxy, and their favorite numbers featured on the program which follows:

Address of Welcome . . . . . William Troy

Mistress of Ceremonies

Helen Beauchemin, assisted by Kathryn McClelland and Paul Feldman

"Silver Wings in the Moonlight" . . . . . Sung by Ruth Calkins

Dance—"The Cachuca" . . . . . By Rose Salzarulo and Michael Spring

"My Buddy" . . . . . Sung by Florence Gomes

"The San Fernando Valley" . . . . . Dave Dalzell and his band

One Act Play—"Three's A Crowd"

Played by Jean Gleason, Madelon Seamans, Leo Kane, Alpine MacArthur, Richard Shipton

Tribute to Members of the Class Already in Active Service . . . . . Paul Perry

Victory Polka and Victory March . . . . . Senior Girls

The Star Spangled Banner . . . . . School

In the outdoor tree planting ceremony William Troy presided, and Rolland Jones gave the tree oration.

The entire program was planned and carried out by the following committee: William Christensen, chairman; Jean Gleason, Barbara Ingalls, Madelon Seamans, Norma Reynolds, Kathryn McClelland, Shirley Jarvie, Joan Bryan, John Sanford, Leo Kane, Alpine MacArthur, James Roser, Neil Fletcher, Richard Shipton, Ralph Brown.

THE GOLDEN ERA

Basketball, the all-American sport, has had its day at Pittsfield High School. The class of '44 has been present during basketball's great era at our school. Through three glorious seasons, starting with December, 1941, the court game has been supreme at P.H.S. In these past three winters in Northern Berkshire League competition, Coach Charles E. Stewart's quintets captured the league title once and tied for first the other two times. They also won the city championship from St. Joseph's High all three years. In their best year, they were county champs and Western Massachusetts leaders. Looking back, we recall that Capt. George Henderson, Tony DiPietro, Norm Bornak, Ted Mezejewski, and Joe Boudreau constituted the strong squad at P.H.S. when we were sophomores; that Bornak became captain of last year's team, one which gained considerable prestige for P.H.S. in Western Massachusetts sports circles, and included such stars as Boudreau, Bob Marmorak, Junie Race, and Jimmy Garivaltis, who was captain of this year's combine. This lined-up with Tony Melideo, Rodney Brown, George Ditmar, and Emil Fontana. The latter two will return next year with Fontana as captain. --- These are the boys who have practically made basketball an institution at P.H.S. At any rate, enthusiasm was never greater by the students and faculty than in the Golden Era.

WINNERS IN ARCHERY

Archery

ARCHERY is one of the most thrilling sports there is although the casual onlooker does not realize this. Part of the thrill comes from constant competition against oneself while trying to make each score better than the last. Not only does this sport provide entertainment for those who participate, but it is a great help in correcting and improving posture. It also adds to a girl's poise because the necessary accuracy demands muscular control and a steady hand and eye.

Even in their junior year Lois Youngs, Betsy Ann Gray, Mary Ellen Bryan, Vera Linke, and Shirley Jarvie found a place in the archery finals.

This year the laurels went to four seniors. Lois Youngs shot her way into first place, Shirley Jarvie followed close behind, and Mary Ellen Bryan and Vera Linke tied for third place.

A careful aim will find the spot.

Field Hockey

THE girls of 1944 were initiated into the game of Field Hockey in their junior year when a new type of game was introduced using six players instead of the former eleven. Our team lost the tournament to the able seniors. However, we gave them keen competition in spite of the fact that we had no hockey team in our sophomore year.

The 1944 tournament was exciting throughout, all three teams being well matched. The seniors again were forced to bow to defeat, this time to a splendid junior team. But we didn't bow easily . . . we forced those peppy juniors to play three games, the last one having two over-time periods. With only one minute to play the juniors drove the ball through the goal posts, disregarding the weary senior defense line, and won the game and the tournament by a single goal.

And so ended a—well, maybe not so successful hockey season, from a senior point of view, but one that was fun, and one we'll be wishing to live over again next fall when we are hard at work in many new fields.

The clashing sticks these Seniors wield
A valiant group on the Hockey Field.

Volleyball

THE 1944 volleyball tournament was exciting from start to finish. The loss of the first game by a narrow margin did not discourage the seniors. They went into the second game with a determined spirit and came through with flying colors. Since winning two out of three games is necessary for tournament victory, a third game had to be played. The will to win was strong on both sides, and this was very evident in the fine playing of the teams. This was anybody's game until the closing minutes when the girls of '44 added another victory to their list. Hats off to the juniors for their good sportsmanship.

Here are the winners of volleyball,
The cream of the crop, the best of all.

Front Row, Left to Right—Madelon Seamans, Evelyn Zuorski, Agnes Eulian, Nina Homich, Jean Castranova.

Basketball

FOR three years basketball has been the favorite sport of every athletic-minded girl in the Class of '44. Even as sophomores, the '44 group looked promising. Our skill was proved when, as juniors, we tied with the seniors and thus caused a play-off game. Under the able guidance of Miss McNaughton, as seniors we succeeded in taking possession of the school basketball title by winning every game of the 1944 season.

The victory in basketball brought much coveted monograms to Shirley Alexander, Madeline Cullen, and Helen Beauchemin. These girls gained their monograms by winning letters in softball, volleyball, and basketball, and by participating in various sports in the two previous years.

This dashing group, each lovely lass,
Brought victory's laurels to her class.

Dorothy Saharceski

Jean Simmons
Ruth Calkins

Jane Kruckowski

Bowling

THIS year the P. H. S. girls were the defenders of the Western Massachusetts bowling title, and they demonstrated their ability by taking top honors for the second time. Ten girls were chosen to participate in the first roll-off, which took place on the Pastime alleys, and they competed against girls from Dalton, St. Joseph, and Lenox. Our girls won by more than one-hundred pins. The five girls with the highest scores—Ruth Calkins, Jane Kruckowski, Mary Phair, Dorothy Saharceski, and Jean Simmons—went to Springfield to compete with high school bowlers from all over Western Massachusetts. Here, too, our girls were victorious, nosing out Chicopee High for the final honors. At the close of the tournament the bowlers were honored with a banquet, and prizes were awarded the winning team. Individual prizes for high scores went to Ruth Calkins and Jean Simmons.

By winning the tournament again this year the Pittsfield girls have taken the second step toward permanent possession of the trophy which comes after three straight victories.

With such technique 'tis no surprise,
That P. H. S. girls took the prize.

Congratulations to The Class of 1944

You've got a job on your shoulders — it's your job to see that in another twenty-five years that the world is still at peace, and not in the chaotic condition that it is today. Your's to see that your own children do not face the conditions that you do today. We hope that you take more interest in government and world affairs, and do a better job than your fathers did!
