

NORTH STREET A. & P. MOVES OUT, AMES STORE IN

The Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company Store at 247 North Street will move out Monday, to be replaced as soon as renovations have been made by the S. K. Ames Butter Store. The butter firm is now in the New American House building, which is to be torn down early next year.

According to A & P officials, the move out of the present building is being made as the result of high rents. The store will be re-opened in another location. The personnel of the store will be absorbed by the company's other stores in the city until a new location can be found.
